Employees Given Raises

Fortas Impeachment?

WASHINGTON—Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., R-Ohio, predicted Wednesday that an impeachment bill will be filed against Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas unless there is further explanation of a fee he accepted from financier Louis Wolfson, who has since gone to jail for stock market law violations.

Fortas said he took a fee, but later returned it when he discovered he would not be able to advise and write for Wolfson's family foundation. Taft said that unless Fortas explains further, "impeachment is a good possibility."

Gas Plan Probe Asked

WASHINGTON—An investigation into a Pentagon plan to dispose of World War II stocks of poison gas in the Atlantic Ocean was asked yesterday by Rep. Richard McCarthy, D-N.Y.

McCarthy questioned whether rail shipments of the gas to the East Coast posed a public danger and whether dumping the gas in the ocean endangered marine life. The Transportation Department confirmed that the gas is to be shipped May 16.

$520 Aid Level Asked

SPRINGFIELD—Governor Ogilvie yesterday asked the legislature to raise the basic school foundation level to $520 per pupil — $20 more than he requested in his budget.

The additional $20 will not increase Ogilvie's recommended $650 million in state aid, but would come from greater-than-expected property tax collections.

Employees Union OK'd

SPRINGFIELD—A bill to allow public employees to organize, but not to strike, was passed and sent to the House yesterday by the state Senate. The collective bargaining bill creates a state public employees' labor relations board to mediate disputes between unions and employers.

The employer is required to seek an injunction in the event of a strike.

'Little FBI' Passed

SPRINGFIELD—The Senate Wednesday passed and sent to the House the Ogilvie administration proposal for a new law enforcement department, including a "little FBI."

All Democrats abstained in the 37-0 vote, registering opposition to a provision allowing the attorney general to begin prosecutions in counties if he wishes.

Train Bill Backed

SPRINGFIELD—Passage of a bill to enable Chicago to tear down its elevated train system and expand the subway system was recommended yesterday by the House Municipalities Committee. The bill would enable cities, including Chicago, to create special taxing districts to finance mass transportation improvements.

Chicago hopes to tax downtown businesses to raise about one-third of the money needed to replace the famous Loop elevated train tracks with two subway stations.

Transfer Principal

CHICAGO—Norman Silber, the white principal of largely Negro Englewood High School was transferred to another school yesterday at his own request after an estimated 1,000 students demonstrated, demanding his dismissal. Silber's transfer ended school disturbances which started when he fired George Spencer, a Negro teacher, and then had him arrested when Spencer refused to leave the building.

Pope Hits Toy Guns

VATICAN CITY—Pope Paul VI told an apparently unappreciative audience of European toy manufacturers yesterday that toy weapons are bad for children. The Pope said that some toys "have a great educational importance," but "weapons develop aggressiveness, other toys incite cruelty toward animals, and still others invite dangerous attitudes."

WARM WATER and warm weather give students from Dempster Junior High School in Mount Prospect an opportunity to enjoy a pre-season dip during the school day. The swimming pool at Kopp Park has been equipped with electric heaters, so students can enjoy the water and the weather as part of their physical education program.

Study Finds Police up to Par

by GEOFFREY MEHL

A study of the Elk Grove Police Department by an ad hoc committee of the village board concluded Tuesday night with the presentation of a report and recommendations from Trustee Charles Zettek.

The group's findings included praise and recommendations to continue and expand specialized areas of law enforcement.

Zettek served as chairman of the committee, which included village trustees, police and fire commission members, police, and attorneys for the board and the commission.

"Our committee wishes to commend the Elk Grove Police Department, since it was our pleasure and great satisfaction to find so many areas in which our police department had already in practice many of the recommendations emanating from the report by the President's Commission," Zettek reported.

THE STUDY WAS prompted by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice, and the committee conclusion was that local police normally do what the national police hopes all police forces would do.

Recommendations for improvement by the Elk Grove committee include an active recruitment program, diversification and strengthening of the cadet program, coordination and pooling of police services with surrounding communities, expansion of the juvenile department, providing for specialized driver training and specialization in the department.

Police work must be made attractive in today's employment market and public relations via personal contact and active and concentrated solicitation and recruitment we believe to be necessary in the organization of the modern day police department," the committee suggested.

It called for recruiting officers and stations, advertising, and campus recruitment to "make it known far and wide that police work has many attractions and opportunities."

THE GROUP complimented Elk Grove's cadet program, and suggested "consideration be given to more diversification of cadet duties, such as photography, fingerprinting and traffic control." Police Chief Harry Jenkins was asked to give the idea consideration.

"We strongly recommend, consistent with the size of the department and budget considerations, that the cadet program be fully staffed," they said.

The program permits the hiring of men 18 to 21 interested in police careers, and currently emphasizes records and communications work. It serves as a training ground and probation period until cadets become 21 and are permitted to become regular policemen.

Coordination and pooling of police services, similar to mutual aid agreements between fire departments, was recommended.

"WE CONSIDER THIS to be a natural and desirable responsibility of neighboring police departments. We urge training be allocated to this area and above all stress the need for chains of command to be established and agreed upon by all participating communities," the report said.

"We envision Elk Grove Village being enhanced by this cooperation . . . since an accelerated residential and industrial growth both in building and population challenges our ability to keep pace in police manpower.

"We recognize the ever-present danger of community disruption by strikes in the industrial area and a common disaster as a result of our closeness to a major airport."

Juvenile Officers John Landers and Jay Akely were subjects of praise. "We congratulate our police department on an effective juvenile program, and recommend its continued and valuable service."

"We do, however, recommend that a police officer be assigned to the Community Services Board where his insight and knowledge may be shared by Community Services, which directs much of its attention to the youth of the community," the report stated.

PROFICIENCY in driving skills beyond the layman's need was suggested. "Without great elaboration, we recommend all police personnel be obligated to attend driving schools or courses. There are many schools and courses and we look to our administration to select those which will accomplish the objective; namely, all police personnel be well schooled in the art of driving and be — which they must — excellent drivers."

In terms of specialization in the department, recommendations and desires of the committee were found to be impractical within the scope of present state law.

To make the recommendations possible, Village Pres. Jack Pahl pledged to initiate state legislation which would remove the block of competitive examination for specialized jobs.

"We see the need for specialization in our police department and recognize it ex-

All village employees were given raises by the Elk Grove Village board Tuesday night, retroactive to May 1. The work week was shortened for some, including village police.

Trustees passed several resolutions and ordinances which had the result of giving employees a 5 per cent pay hike, as well as assumption of all group insurance costs. An exception was made for the three fire department lieutenants, who received a 10 per cent hike.

Group insurance costs had been shared by the village and the employee, but under the new program, the village will foot the entire bill.

IT WAS ESTIMATED that the change could give employees as much as an additional $200 a year. "That's cash in pocket money," Trustee George Coney said.

The recommendation came from the board's budget committee, currently nearing conclusion in preparing the 1969-70 village budget.

Trustee Ronald Chernick, chairman of the committee, announced the increases Tuesday night, adding, "We want to be one of the best paying municipalities in the area."

To counter concern that 5 per cent is only a nominal increase, Chernick reminded employees that this is the latest in a series of pay hikes over the past four years.

He said the 10 per cent increase was given to fire lieutenants because they have on occasion had to serve as acting chief, giving them great responsibility.

IT WAS CHERNICK'S opinion that the three lieutenants had filled that responsibility well. "It's our way of saying thank you," he said.

The work week for village police was reduced from 42 to 40 hours, along with sewer and water department employees. All other village workers will continue with their present 37½-hour schedule.

After passing the necessary legislation by a 5-0 vote, with Trustee Eugene Keith absent, the board directed Village Mgr. Charles Willis to make the adjustments retroactive to May 1.

RESOLUTION of salary schedules for the coming year is traditionally the most time-consuming effort in preparation of a budget.

With the item cleared from the agenda, Chernick said, the new budget should be completed soon and be ready for board consideration in "one or two weeks."

Slate Forum On Smoking

A community forum on the smoking policy at Elk Grove High School will be held tonight at Grant Wood School. Sponsored by the Student Smoking Committee, the program will begin at 8 p.m.

The committee will present its goals and explain to village residents what is planned by the group.

The committee is seeking to change the school policy to permit an outdoor smoking area on an experimental basis. The change would not affect current prohibition of smoking inside the school.

Student Council Pres. James Brookman will chair the meeting. It will precede a survey of the community and a presentation to the School Dist. 214 Board of Education, planned for Monday night.

Eppley Will Resign From Village Post

Elk Grove Village Finance Director Donald Eppley said Tuesday night he will resign from his village post June 1 to assume a similar position in Lake Forest.

Director of fiscal affairs and administration will be the title of Eppley's new job, which represents a personal advancement.

EMPLOYED by Elk Grove Village in January, 1968, Eppley's last day of work will be May 23.

His is the second resignation in recent weeks. Frank Krebs, village engineer and Public Works Director is leaving village service to enter private industry. His last day of work is May 15.

Plan Grape Rally

A rally will be held in Arlington Heights Saturday as part of nationwide activities for International Grape Boycott Day.

The rally will be held at St. James Elementary School, North State Road, beginning at 1 p.m.

Featured speakers will be Mrs. Eugenia Chapman, representative to the Illinois House, and the Rev. Robert Kolsey, a field worker for the National Council of Churches. Local citizens are expected to return to their communities afterward and express their support of the grape boycott to store managers.

The boycott, now in its second year, grew out of a four-year strike of the Delano, Calif., grape pickers.

THE PICKERS HAVE sought to meet with growers in order to obtain collective bargaining privileges through the United Farm Workers Union. The strike has become a bitter one with accusations on both sides of coercion and violence.

A nationwide grape boycott was implemented by Caesar Chavez, head of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, in 1967. Major chain stores, including A & P, Jewel, National Tea and Hi-Low pledged last year not to carry grapes, but community support is needed if they are to continue their policy, according to the rally organizers.

"The Proclamation of the Delano Grape Workers," to be read at the Saturday rally, states the position of the Farm Workers:

"WE HAVE BEEN farm workers for hundreds of years, boycotters for two. We did not choose the grape boycott, but we have chosen to leave our peonage, poverty and despair behind. We mean to have our peace, and to win it without violence, for it is violence that we would overcome — the subtle spiritual and mental violence or oppression, the violence subhuman toil does to the human body."

The local rally and confrontation is one of 20 such activities to be held in Chicago and suburban neighborhoods Saturday. It will be part of a coordinated effort to demonstrate consumer support of the United Farm Workers and their boycott.

Motorcyclist Has Two Accidents, Same Spot

A Chicago motorcyclist couldn't make it around the curve on Route 20 and the Barrington Road intersection in Hanover Park last week.

Thursday evening Thomas Dixon, 24, came to the police station to report he had missed the curve and had a slight accident.

ABOUT AN HOUR later at the same location he collided with a truck that was stopped to make a left turn, police said. The second accident demolished the motorcycle.

Dixon was taken to Sherman Hospital. Police charged him with driving too fast for conditions.

The truck was driven by Fred Catalano of River Grove.

Sex Education Causes Heated Debate

by SUE CARSON

Parents' representatives in School Dist. 21 met last night at a meeting called to discuss the district's sex education program.

The meeting was so heated that the meeting adjourned to become a riot at several points.

The meeting at the Joyce Kilmer School in Oakton was conducted by the Citizens' Parents Committee (CPC), a group of parents organized last month to discuss the method of teaching sex education in the district schools.

John Hopkins, president of the CPC, said the group had intended the meeting to be a discussion only.

"OUR ORGANIZATION has no political agenda and we have no personal vendettas against the school system. We are not here to create controversy. We only want to give the people the chance to discuss this program," Hopkins said.

The group borrowed five films and slides used in district sex education courses to be shown following the formal presentation.

Shouts of "What are you afraid of?" and "Let us form our own opinions" interrupted Hopkins' announcement that School Supt. Kenneth Gill wasn't allowed to appear on the program because, "We wanted to give our own presentation."

The CPC says the sex education program is being conducted without the approval of the parents or the school board, that the program has moral implications and that some of the material is being introduced to the children before they are emotionally mature enough to cope with it.

Hopkins specifically objected to one of the films, "Boy to Man," because it states that masturbation will not cause mental illness and is not physically harmful to the individual.

"ALTHOUGH PARTS OF this film are good, it definitely has moral implications. The district seems to be going in for pseudo-religion," Hopkins said.

Hopkins admitted he hadn't screened several of the five films shown at the meeting but said he was objecting to them on the basis of reference material he had examined and "the objections of other people."

Mrs. Gloria Pfister, director of publicity for the CPC, said an examination of the minutes of Dist. 21 Board of Education meetings revealed that no written approval was given by the board for implementing the sex education program.

She also said the book, "A Baby Is Born," is recommended reading for children in grades two, three and four in the district and is on the library shelf at Louisa Alcott School. "This same book is on the restricted shelf at the Arlington Heights Library," she claimed.

A check by The Herald revealed that the book is on the closed shelf in the children's section of the Arlington Heights Library and may be taken out by adults.

THROUGHOUT THE two-hour meeting, individuals in the audience shouted comments and some took the floor to give their own opinions.

Jack Kinsey, youth officer with the Wheeling Police Department, won applause when he said, "You (parents) are underestimating your own children."

Speaking in favor of the district's program, Kinsey said terrified students come to him frequently to discuss their sexual problems.

"It is a sad commentary that the children of today are so ill-informed," Kinsey said.

Hopkins replied, "Then there must be something wrong with the way the schools are teaching about sex."

The next round in the sex education controversy was scheduled for last night, when the school administration was to give its side of the story at a meeting at Jack London Junior High School.

Keeps Pet Fox

by MARY DRESSER

George Griffith, an eighth grader at Hoffman Junior High School in Wheeling, has kept a pet fox for a hundred years ago.

His mother, Mrs. Mary L. Hall, says George was the "kindest child," would have been a hero in an American frontier story because he is a natural woodsman.

George is a quiet boy, spends a lot of time observing animals.

Last fall, George brought a 4-week-old baby fox to school and explained to his TV-brained classmates what it is like to see a fox in a cage all around them.

HIS CLASSMATES gaped as George showed the baby fox and showed them how to handle the fox, would eventually tame the fox.

The fox was so tame the animal followed George around the classroom, resting on his lap.

George was so sure where to look for a fox when he went on his expedition to the woods near Wheeling weeks ago.

He said the fox den where he expected to find the fox from its growling noise.

The fox mother didn't build a very good den George observes wisely, calling her a "dumb den mother."

George took the baby fox home and is now raising the animal in his bedroom.

"I can't let the fox outside," he explains, "because even a very well trained dog would automatically kill a fox."

GEORGE DOESN'T know what he will do with the animal once it is full size. Turning it loose is no solution because by now the fox is so accustomed to people it might be killed while making friendly overtures at some homeowner's back door.

Mrs. Hall is trying to interest George in getting a job with a zoo or a veterinarian this summer because of his remarkable knowledge of animals.

George has suffered in his pursuit of nature lore. Two weeks ago he fell out of a tree while observing baby raccoons and he is still under a doctor's care.

However, last week George was back up in a tree, this time taking movies of a mother fox feeding and caring for her cubs.

George knows where to find the wild animals he loves because nature has been his textbook.

WOODSMAN GEORGE Griffith, is turning a 4-week-old baby fox he captured into a pet. George keeps the fox in his bedroom and by now the little animal is following him and responding to his voice.

fire commission.

"Obviously, this would destroy the flexibility desired in the police department and so in our desire to recognize and reward special ability and effort, we create an administrative problem," the committee said.

They recommended that the police and fire commission, village manager, and village board, with attorneys for the commission and board, "initiate action to allow for specialization and recognition by title and remuneration without defeating ability and jurisdiction of the police and fire commission."

THE GROUP CONCEDED, "This may not be an attainable goal, but we feel it to be a desirable goal."

Pahl agreed, but noted that it is impossible to introduce new legislation in Springfield during the current session of the General Assembly. "We couldn't get it for another two years," Pahl said, "but we can start work on it now."

Elk Grove police have been rated among the top 10 departments in Cook County, and the village board has considerable pride in the force.

Zettek, who chairs the board's personnel committee, continually maintains that the force ranks among the best in Illinois.

View City Life

More than 450 seniors from Conant High School in Schaumburg Township will be taking study tours in Chicago this month to see how the other half lives.

The students will take all-day study trips to learn about Negro life, Puerto Rican life, housing, and religions in Chicago. Each student has a choice of which tour he will take.

Tours are intended to bring suburban youngsters into contact with forms of metropolitan life they would not normally experience.

About 150 seniors will travel to Chicago on three different dates — May 13, 14, and 21. All of the pupils are enrolled in Conant's Senior Social Science Survey class.

The inter-cultural field trips, which were arranged by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, will culminate a month's study of contemporary social problems, said Mrs. Jill Wettersten, social studies department chairman.

"A LOT OF PEOPLE are aware of our social problems today," Mrs. Wettersten observed, "but they fail to realize the complexity of these problems."

The urban trips to study Negro life and Chicago's various religions drew the largest student response, Mrs. Wettersten said.

On the Negro life tour, students will visit Chicago public housing sites, talk with an official of the Chicago Urban League, tour Dunbar Vocational High School, and visit the offices of Johnson Publishing Co., publishers of Ebony magazine.

Students on the tour to study Puerto Rican life will visit a migration center, a real estate office serving Puerto Ricans, a social service center and Wells High School in Chicago.

HOUSING PROJECTS visited on the Chicago housing tour will include projects in Hyde Park and Woodlawn, as well as low and middle-income housing in integrated communities.

The tour of religions in Chicago will include visits to a B'hai Temple, a Buddhist Temple, and Orthodox and Reform synagogues.

Students who take the Negro life and Puerto Rican life tours will eat lunch in Chicago high schools.

The Conant seniors will leave by bus at 8:30 a.m. on each of the tour days and return by 3:45 p.m. There will be no cost except for lunch.

"Hopefully, these tours will provide the seniors with a better understanding and appreciation of their own community," Mrs. Wettersten declared.

Alternate Route Given

In an informal meeting Tuesday, Hanover Park Village Pres. Richard Baker unveiled a proposed alternate route to the expressway which will be constructed through the village, connecting O'Hare Field and Elgin (new Route 13).

The new route approaches Hanover Park from the east and crosses just east of the intersection of Lake Street and Ontarioville Road, passes through undeveloped sections of Ontarioville, then proceeds west into the Bartlett and Streamwood industrial areas, swings to the north and crosses Lake Street just west of the village hall.

Baker reported that his plan had been shown informally to state highway representatives and that they indicated their approval.

A meeting is scheduled this afternoon to discuss any objections to the route. Baker said the proposed route as explained above will be presented to highway officials formally at the public meeting.

Baker said the proposed route "takes our neighbors into consideration. As far as we can tell it does not pass through any built-up areas in Bartlett, Streamwood or Schaumburg."

He also said the route, prepared with the cooperation of village engineer Larry Grindel, offers enough flexibility in case of objections. It could be moved a few hundred feet either way.

Baker urged concerned residents to continue the campaign objecting to "Alternate 1," which would have sliced through the village.

He said the final route is far from acceptance and several more hearings will occur before firm commitments are made by the highway division. No official action will take place at today's 2 p.m. meeting in the Schaumburg Great Hall. It is solely for the purpose of placing objections on the record.

Church Dedicates Mobile Classrooms

Two mobile classroom units used in the religious education program of Church of the Cross United Presbyterian church in Hoffman Estates were dedicated Sunday in a special ceremony.

The congregation also observed the fifth anniversary of the building of its sanctuary this week.

DR. DONALD E. Zimmerman, executive director of the Chicago Presbytery, was the featured speaker at Sunday's dedication. The church's junior choir also participated in the service.

Rev. Thomas C. Truscott is pastor of Church of the Cross.

Hunt for Manager Near

After Hoffman Estates trustees define criteria and write a job description, Dr. Frank Endicott and William Hazard, of Northwestern University Placement Bureau, will probably begin a search for a slate of candidates for the vacant position of village manager.

At Monday night's village board meeting, Endicott and Hazard told trustees they are certain that they can identify a number of candidates for the post, but stressed also that they are not interested in doing things the board is capable of accomplishing.

Although both have had experience in identifying personnel, their chief experience to date lies in the field of school superintendent recruitment.

BOTH ENDICOTT and Hazard were instrumental in the selection of Dr. Kenneth Underwood, former Dist. 54 superintendent, and in this capacity worked with Village Pres. Frederick E. Downey and Trustee Virginia Hays, former members of the board of education.

After criteria and qualifications have been determined by the village board, Endicott and Hazard will act as consultants in the screening process and hope to identify a slate of possibly 20 to 30 candidates from a large field of applicants.

The fee for such a search could be as high as $10,000, but Endicott said that the actual interviewing and hiring will be done by the board.

The fee could range from $1,000 to $10,000, depending on the amount of work the board determines should be done by the consultant.

Village Board Hits Plan to Extend Tollways Downstate

An Illinois Toll Highway Commission plan to extend tollways downstate drew fire Tuesday night from the Elk Grove Village Board of Trustees.

A resolution opposing the use of tollway revenues to subsidize the extension of other toll roads was passed without opposition.

The resolution was adopted at the request of Village Pres. Jack Pahl and was a "model" resolution adopted by Glencoe in support of Rep. Harold Katz'. D-Glencoe bill to prohibit mortgaging the present tollway system.

Pahl later said he will send the resolution to area legislators, the Illinois House committee that will hear tollway bills, the House speaker, president pro tem and Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.

Pahl told the board, if the Tollway Commission has its way, "we'd be subsidizing other areas of the state where toll roads are economically unfeasible."

"WE'LL NEVER STOP paying tolls on the Tri-State and Northwest Tollways. I personally take exception to this."

He noted the tollways are making so much money the Toll Highway Authority is ahead of its bond payment schedule "by several years." This could be speeding the day when tolls can be eliminated, Pahl noted.

Katz' bill would prohibit issuance of bonds for additional toll highways, except as the General Assembly, by law, would find the additional highways to be in the public interest.

House Bill 225 further requires that revenues from an additional toll road be applied to pay off bonds on only that road, rather than to all outstanding bonds of the authority. In effect, this would make each toll road stand on its own earnings to finance it.

KATZ' BILL also asks that each highway be removed from the toll system and be placed in the freeway system when the principal and interest on its bonds, plus state appropriations, are paid off.

Katz' legislation would fulfill the intent of the original act authorizing toll roads in Illinois. At that time, only the Tri-State Tollway was planned and political leaders promised tolls would be removed when the road was paid off.

But late into the 1967 General Assembly, the legislature approved a bill authorizing expansion of the tollway system statewide.

It is estimated current revenues could retire the Tri-State's bonds by 1979, rather than the earlier projected dates of 1985 and 1998.

MEANWHILE, THE Toll Highway Commission has proposed "successive lien bonds," or liens on current toll earnings to finance an East-West Tollway. Objectors to this proposal argue Chicago area tollway users will be subsidizing downstate roads.

Donald R. Bonniwell, Toll Highway Commission chairman, said Wednesday he decision on legality of using present tollway revenues to immediately build an East-West Tollway. Bonniwell said he requested a court opinion April 23 and expects a decision in 30 days.

In addition to Katz' bill, the legislature has another chance to "head tollway extension off at the pass." The Toll Highway Commission has introduced a bill seeking a raise in the amount of interest it can pay for bonds. Limited now at 5 per cent interest, it is unlikely the commission could find a market for bonds for another highway.

BONNIWELL SAID as soon as a court opinion is handed down, he will meet with Gov. Ogilvie to discuss his plans.

According to an Ogilvie aide, the governor has taken no public position in the tollway controversy.

Clinic Expands Services

Dr. Gerald Cohen, staff psychiatrist at Northwest Mental Health Center since last October, will devote an additional half day per week in part of an expansion of center services, according to Nicholas Hyser, clinic director.

The additional staff time will make possible an extension of services for adolescents and after care treatment for adults. DR. COHEN RECEIVED his bachelor's degree from University of Illinois and his medical degree from Chicago Medical School. He completed his medical internship at Cook County Hospital and his psychiatric residency at Billings Memorial Hospital in 1964.

He is in private practice in Chicago, a staff member of the Psychiatric and Psychosomatic Institute at Michael Reese Hospital and has served as psychiatric consultant to the Chicago Juvenile Court for four years.

In addition to expanded services, the center will add 910 square feet to its present facilities at 1711 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights.

The space, adjoining the center's present quarters, will be remodeled to integrate with existing facilities, providing about 80 per cent more room.

"THE SPACE WILL make possible some urgently needed additions to staff time, an enlarged waiting room and other needed improvements," Hyser said.

Clearbrook Center for the Retarded, Rolling Meadows, also plans additions to its facilities at a site to be selected, and St. Alexius Hospital, Elk Grove Village, plans "at least a few" psychiatric beds and psychiatric in-patient facilities.

Program on Cancer Marks Hospital Week

In observance of National Hospital Week, Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge will present a public program on "Current Concepts in the Treatment of Cancer."

Presenting the program will be Dr. Charles Staley, surgeon and member of the hospital medical staff.

Staley is associate professor of surgery at Northwestern University Medical School and has written papers on the treatment of cancer.

His lecture will begin at 8 p.m. May 13 in the hospital auditorium.

Stroke Treatment Project Begins

A new stroke rehabilitation project has been initiated at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, according to William Dohse, coordinator of physical medicine at the hospital.

The project, sponsored with the Chicago Heart Association, is intended to teach the latest techniques in stroke rehabilitation and to help develop the best possible program of stroke rehabilitation in hospitals.

"REHABILITATION is a vital part of caring for a stroke victim," said Dohse. "It should begin immediately upon the stroke victim's arrival at the hospital. This includes correctly positioning the patient for his safety and comfort and deciding what his basic range of motion should be."

Staff members of the Chicago Heart Association will meet with the hospital's stroke rehabilitation team.

The stroke rehabilitation team at Lutheran General includes a physician, a physical therapist, an occupational therapist, a speech therapist, a rehabilitation nurse, a social worker and a chaplain.

Home Plate Gets A Workout

There probably should be an investigation made of the home plate which is used by Harper College in Pioneer Park to see if it is worn out or in need of repair.

Why?
Well it wasn't Harper's fault if the plate is all torn up. Only one Hawk put his spikes on the most important part of the baseball diamond last Monday afternoon.

IF THE ACCUSING finger has to be pointed at someone, it should be pointed at the whole Amundsen team because each of the starters scored at least once during the six inning game which had to be called because of darkness.

If they had only scored nine times it wouldn't have been too serious, but the visitors had to get greedy and 19 times their cleats dug into the rubber plate as they routed the Hawks, 19-1.

The Hawks' pitching staff, which was exhausted last Saturday in what amounted to a triple header (20 innings) against Elgin, used five hurlers to stop their guests but nothing seemed to work.

The Falcons greeted Kevin Roeske in the first inning with three runs on four hits. Following another score in the second, Ron Kunde came on in relief. One more run came home in that frame and another in the third.

IN THE FOURTH — the Falcons' biggest inning of the game — six more tallies were registered before Jim Kenny took over the chores. He was greeted with a single which brought in another Falcon and Jim Stamborski took over and retired the next two batters to end the explosion.

Stamborski blanked Amundsen in the fifth but was nailed with six runs in the sixth before giving way to Kevin Freund who fanned the next man up for the third out.

Then Harper avoided a shutout in the bottom of the final frame. Freund singled — only the fourth hit of the game for the Hawks — and stole second. The Amundsen hurler fanned the next two Hawks but on the second strikeout the catcher dropped the ball. Kenny, who was the batter, reached base on an error by the catcher and Freund came home.

The setback left the Hawks 1-2 in conference play and 6-8 overall.

of Lisle, Bill Bottoms of Brookfield, Jim Loomis from Wheaton, Richard Johnson from Clarendon Hills and Jim Ekrod out of Melrose Park.

For the second year, Sunday night
"spectator races" will be featured with off-the-street cars competing for weekly trophies. This added Santa Fe Speedway exclusive gives an opportunity for "sideline race drivers" to demonstrate their skills in actual racing conditions on a tricky quarter-mile clay oval.

Santa Fe Speedway headlines fast-paced stock car action every Saturday and Sunday evening through the month of September. Along with the quick-moving stocks, high-speed motorcycles take over Santa Fe Speedway every Wednesday night as Chicago's only professional motorcycle show is presented on the southwest side clay oval.

Santa Fe Speedway is located at 91st and Wolf Road in Willow Springs, approximately 20 minutes from downtown Chi-

Top Fields to Assemble At Santa Fe Speedway

Classy Don Waldvogel of Lockport will lead a star-studded field of 35 late model pilots this Saturday and Sunday, May 10 and 11, as Santa Fe Speedway presents its second thrill-packed weekend of stock car racing action.

A 25-lap late model feature race on the quarter-mile clay oval will highlight both Saturday's and Sunday's racing program.
Starting time is 8:30 on Saturday and 8 p.m. on Sunday with time trials preceding the races by one hour.

Waldvogel, who is one of the speedway's most consistent performers, has been in the top five for many years; however he has not won the speedway championship for 10 years. The stylist Lockport racing veteran will make a determined effort to end this championship drought.

Other late model pilots who are seeking the 1969 title and accompanying fire-engine-red 1969 Mustang are Larry Jackson of Cicero, Dick Nelson of 4859 W. Division in Chicago, Marty Rudderhoff from Elm-hurst, Rich Clement of 2354 S. Blue Island in Chicago, Tony Izzo out of Bridgeview and Clem Lewandowski of Joliet.

Sportsman events, which also will feature 25-lappers on Saturday and Sunday evening, should pinpoint a head-on clash between four main contenders for the sportsman crown — Ron Fisher of Westmont, Larry Robb of La Grange, Lee Byers from 2802 S. Harding in Chicago, and Jerry Kling of Lemont.

Other sportsman pilots who are expected to give the top quartet a tussle include perennial favorite Dave Thompson week, 5-0, for their fourth consecutive win in Mid-Suburban League net action.

Coach Tom Fitchford's charges added to the impressiveness of their feat by blank-ing the Wildcats in four of the ten sets, giving up only 12 set points in all.

Number one singles ace Greg Harris started the Cards off with a 6-1, 6-1 pasting of 'Cat Bob Carlson, and Ken Jorgesen followed up with a 6-0, 6-0 blanking of Steve Magerl at second singles. Ben Crockett then landed third singles with a 6-4, 6-4 conquest of Bob Lemke.

In doubles action, Arlington's Paul Stevens and Bill Stelling combined to better
Ron Fedyski and Mike Menia, 6-1, 6-0, followed by Rob Baer and Scott McKay topping Wayne Fish and Walt Bjorsten at second doubles, 6-0, 6-1.

The Card frosh-soph unit of Coach Gary Brodnan also ruled the Wildcats, 5-0, to retain their undefeated status in MSL duels.

Dwyer's 38 Paces Conant Golf Win

Pat Dwyer fired a 38 to lead Conant to a 189-179 victory over Fremd in a Mid-Suburban League golf match at Inverness.

Dwyer shot an eagle on the par-5 17th hole. His birdie putt was less than three feet as he reached the green in two.

Rick Johnson shot a 42, Chris Diger a 44, Rick Oertwerth a 45 and Bruce Rucks a 47 for Conant. For Fremd Chuck Daugherty shot a 44, Tim Carter a 43, Jeff Oakley a 45, Bob Meiso a 47 and Richard Gaut-reaux a 48. Fremd won the frosh-soph meet 200-216.

Hawk Thinclads Gain Experience

Harper College's track team had one principle reason for heading to the very tough Region IV track meet recently — experience.

The meet, which was held at Spoon River College in Canton, had 16 teams entered with Chicago Wilson dominating things by registering 75 points.

Registering the only points for the Hawks was Sean Ryan. He finished fifth in the high hurdles with a timing of 18.7 over the cinder track.

Taking the three other top places in the meet were Black Hawk of Moline (51),
Spoon River (37) and College of DuPage (20).

"Ten kids went down to the meet," Harper coach Bob Nolan said. "We had about five that couldn't go with us because of jobs."

"I know what to expect next time and the meet was good experience for them."

The Way We See It

Act Was 'Half Step'

The Cook County Board finally acted Monday to get some long-overdue business off its agenda, when it established a Cook County Regional Plan Commission.

The board acted after years of prodding and years of its own inaction and delay, finally agreeing to the need for somebody to give direction in planning for the county's immense needs.

The board should be congratulated for taking action, but its action was only a halfway step at best.

In making themselves the plan commission, the board members in effect only gave themselves new labels to wear at those times when they sit as the commission. The 15, with one of their number to be picked as chairman, will be the commission, and they'll further divide themselves up by each one becoming a sub-committee chairman in charge of a specific area of planning.

Shunted aside was a plan proposed almost two years ago by then Board Pres. Richard Ogilvie, a plan first outlined by the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development. It called for a 21-member appointive commission, with ex-officio members including the county board president; the superintendents of the county highway department, forest preserve district and sanitary district; and the chairmen of the county finance committee and the building and zoning committee.

That plan made infinitely more sense, allowing for a reasonably independent commission to concentrate specifically on planning problems, and having the board act as the final check.

There are some obvious pitfalls under the plan the board did adopt, and perhaps chief among them is this: with most of the county planning problems occurring in areas distant from Chicago — in 250 square miles of unincorporated land around municipalities — can they get adequate attention from a board with two-thirds of its members elected from Chicago?

There is a danger of catering to special concerns and politics as usual. An appointed plan commission at least could act as a buffer between the county commissioners and pressure groups, helping counterbalance political influences on the commissioners.

In terms of simply getting the job done, the new county plan group setup overlooks the major advantage of a separate planning board, which has been demonstrated in suburban communities. A separate board can be made up of, and call on, experts in all the fields related to planning, producing the kind of expertise that 15 politicians reporting to themselves could not enjoy.

The separate plan commission could also bear down specifically on the study and solving of planning problems. Can the county board, already spread thin, be able to devote the time needed to the neglected and critical planning area?

We cannot applaud the county commissioners for their action. We can wish the best for them, and hope they are able to come to grips with the huge challenge.

First priority, of course, is to get for the county what it and only two others in Northern Illinois are lacking: a master plan for the wise and binding use of the land still undeveloped.

Let Boys Play the Game

by ED MURNANE

There have been several "great arguments" in the 1960's.
Should or should not Red China be ad-

women's auxiliaries sometimes number almost as many participants as the boys themselves.

Too frequently, the real contest at the ball park is which father is going to have the most say about what's going on and how the team is going to be managed.

I RECALL ONE incident three years ago in one community in which two fathers — one a manager and the other an official in the baseball program — got into an argument in front of the boys.

They were arguing because the league official said the manager did not provide a brand new ball for the game and the manager said he did. The language — all in front of the kids — was enough to curl a sailor's hair, and the argument progressed to the point where one of the men told the other to shut his mouth or he'd shut it himself.

Obviously, this was a rare case. I've worked as an umpire in several leagues and never found anything near this kind of a situation.

But it does strike a note of warning that sometimes the parents can become a little too involved at the risk of hurting the kids.

In most cases, and Rolling Meadows is at the front of the line, the programs are well-run and a parent should be happy to have his son participate.

THERE ARE FEW things that can help mold young people as well as participation in competitive sporting activities with other youngsters.

Not only does the child learn how to cope with competition, but he learns what it can be like to lose a heartbreaking game and what a joy a hard-fought victory can be.

When parents are dedicated to these ends, the program, no matter how organized or over-organized, is worth the effort.

If the kids come out of a season as better persons than they went in, then so will the parents.

So let's play ball.

Animal Control—A Job for Police?

by DON BRANNAN

A policeman is called upon to perform many different tasks in the course of his work — aid a stalled motorist, find a lost child or investigate a theft. But the policeman is mainly involved in law enforcement.

Consequently, the policeman's time should not be used in chasing stray dogs if this will deter him from actual police work. Thus there is a definite need for an animal control warden for either Schaumburg Township as a whole or in both Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates.

As the villages grow and the weather gets warmer, the police departments are faced with more and more animal cases. Each department has about 20 such cases a week. The Schaumburg police department had 600 animal cases last year.

"IT IS DEFINITELY time-consuming for the policeman to be chasing stray dogs and cats," says Schaumburg Police Chief Martin Conroy. "The policeman's main job is to enforce the law and protect life and property."

In order to free Hoffman Estates policemen for doing professional police work Chief John O'Connell has proposed in his budget for the coming year the hiring of a half-time animal control officer.

This animal control officer would be responsible for impounding stray animals, checking licensing of pet animals, and handling animal bite cases. Under the rabies protection ordinances, animals that are involved in biting incidents are locked up for 10 days in the Golf-Rose animal shelter.

"I feel that local animal control work could be done better on the township level with an animal control warden, with the villages sharing the cost," Chief O'Connell suggested. He felt that this would lead to better use of police time as well as less stray animals on the street.

"WITH THE population of the villages increasing, the police could be chasing dogs and cats all day," said Schaumburg Police Chief Martin Conroy. The Schaumburg police chief considers animal control work as more of a community service than work requiring a trained professional.

Although the idea of a township animal warden was proposed at a town meeting a few years ago, it was not approved at that time. However, the population has increased since then, and there is a definite need for an animal control officer today.

"Between the two villages and the unincorporated area, you could keep an animal control warden busy full-time," Conroy declared.

SCHAUMBURG'S village ordinance requires that a dog owner keep his animal on his own property or else on a leash. If a pet strays from his owner's property, he is considered an animal at large and the police can become involved.

Hardly a day passes that incidents of lost pets are not reported to local police: 10:30 a.m., Mrs. Jones called to report her dog Fido was missing. 1 p.m. Mrs. Jones called to say that Fido had returned home but would not say where he had been.

These cases all take up the policeman's time, when he might better be patrolling village streets and highways.

"If the villages could work something out with the township for an animal control officer, I think it would be beneficial for both the police and the area community," Conroy agreed.

AN ANIMAL control warden in the township could have radio communication with both police departments in order to answer calls, according to the Schaumburg chief.

"In nine of 10 cases," Conroy said, "the stray animal is gone on arrival of the policeman."

Both village chiefs contended that relieving the policeman from animal control work would produce better efficiency and use of manpower.

According to the President's Commission on Law Enforcement, policemen should be regarded as trained professionals. And the creation of an animal control warden for the local villages would be in line with this thinking.

Looking Around

An organization of shipping agents in Rotterdam, Holland wanted a quiet and novel place to hold their annual banquet. They found it. They served the dinner in the Levee-Haven Subway which was not yet open to the public.

Miniskirts on girl guests of the U.S. Airman's club in Wetherfield, England, must show no more than four inches above the knee. The regulation was passed, not by the airman, but by their wives.

Scotland Yard is convinced that most major crimes are committed by people without the intelligence to plan them, and the Yard is searching for a way to catch the "thinkers" who plan big train robberies or jewel thefts while sunning themselves in the South of France and never get within hundreds of miles of the actual scene of the crimes.

Last summer a new service was inaugurated in Paris to provide house-keeping help for men whose wives were at the beach for vacation. The wives heard about it when they came home, think it is a wonderful idea, and are calling for the service more than the lonely husbands did.

After being found innocent of the crime on which he was held, Wilbert Brown asked the judge in Phoenix, Arizona, if he could stay in jail for another night because he had no other place to go. Before morning police received notice from Louisiana authorities to hold Brown on a bed check charge.

Eye on Arlington

Compatibility vs Individuality

by TOM WELLMAN

Diversity, it was explained one night recently at the Arlington Heights Plan Commission, is an evil.

The question concerned the architecture of a small development on the north side of Arlington Heights. One member of the commission remarked that a greater effort should be made by the developer to construct his apartments in conformity with the rest of the neighborhood.

The commissioner, although perhaps arguing for the maintenance of quality architecture, instead sounded as though he were emphasizing more uniformity and compatibility along the stretch of Palatine Road in question.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, above all else, does not need more "compatibility." This village, with the exception of the older buildings close to the central business district, is deluged with the "sanity" and "sameness" — qualities builders feel residents of Arlington Heights want.

Granted, that "sameness" does not mean strict uniformity, to the extent that every house in this village looks exactly like every other house. Home builders DO construct different models in subdivisions, and not all apartments here are blessed with mansured roofs.

And, that "sameness" does not mean that the majority of homes in Arlington Heights are sloppily constructed. They aren't — thanks to the efforts of the village administration.

But the new homes and new buildings are cursed by a blandness, a facelessness that comes from builders' unwillingness to go too far out, to risk outspoken diversity.

WITH THE PREVAILING architecture comes the disturbing sense, if you are an outsider driving through Arlington Heights, that the persons inside the buildings, in their lives, are willing to mildly innovate — so long as they stay within the narrowly-prescribed outlines of their homes.

I'll cast my vote for a bit of creative disorder (not chaos), at least a token effort by a homebuilder, a governmental official, or a private citizen to build something, somewhere that sparks of a little originality.

Will the hydropillar on the south side be the only outspoken monument of "something different" that this village leaves to history?

The tragedy of Arlington Heights is not rapping the flat farmland; instead, it is the conception of "token diversity," the ticky-tacky-appearing homes that reflect nothing seriously individual.

NO ONE PERSON bears the responsibility for this sameness, and no one should be required to construct conforming non-conformity. It will take a gutsy man or woman to buck "what the neighbors think" and step out of the patterns of life.

Perhaps the new village board, keeping a sharp eye on the overall quality of this village, will encourage a rash of ideas on all kinds of projects and pursuits here.

"Diversity" in Arlington Heights does not operate in a vacuum. With the generation gap and the ghetto on our backs, that diversity of ideas and approaches may contribute to a better meaning for the lives of ourselves and our neighbors.

Granted, outspoken architecture won't end the generation gap. It does reflect, however, the courage to support new ways of breaking out of old silence and idleness to try to solve new problems.

The Elderly Need Attention

Have read Mr. Hayes' Editor's Column concerning the elderly and agree wholeheartedly with his comments.

Also on the first page of the Herald is an article regarding Aged Housing Goals, stating that Mount Prospect or any other village in Cook County could receive funds from the federal government for housing for the elderly, and cited Niles, Ill. as one of the projects. This I have been waiting for a long time, but how to get the ball rolling? Perhaps you could help the senior citizens of Northwest suburban area who have been paying taxes for many years and now that our income is limited, it has become a burden, and we cannot afford to rent because of the exorbitant prices.

Anything you can do to help, I am sure will be much appreciated by the elderly.

Kids Did Great Job

On behalf of the many families in Winston Park I wish to thank the eighth grade class of St. Thomas of Villanova School for the tremendous job they did in painting and decorating the underpass on Anderson Drive.

They did a fine job of decorating the walls with flowers, and we liked the message that "Palatine is on its way up!"

We do hope other boys and girls respect what you have done and do not mess your project. Thank you for making our neighborhood a nicer place to live.

Election Training

As a newcomer to Arlington Heights from Chicago I was amused by a letter in the Herald. It was about polls and election changes from one election to another.

The phrase "we used to do it that way." As a judge on the board of elections for 25 years in Chicago, I learned one never takes "conditions," things or people for granted.

We not only went to school before election sessions but reading our material mailed to us was a must. Also, as I intend to try and get in as a judge here, there is no such thing as "baby judges" or oldsters who think they know the ropes. We all were equal on the board.

All Over But the Memory

If you can't come out the big winner, the next best thing is to have your roommate take top prize.

That's the way things turned out for Illinois' Junior Miss Pamela Weir in the 1969 Junior Miss finals at Mobile, Ala., last night.

America's new Junior Miss is Jackie Bennington of California, who was Pam's roommate in Mobile since the 50 Junior Misses arrived there for this year's competition April 26.

Although not among the 10 semi-finalists, the Prospect High School senior will not come home empty-handed. She won a $1,000 preliminary scholarship for academic achievement.

LAST NIGHT'S finals, televised nationally from Mobile, climaxed for Pam an experience that began last October when she first entered the Paddock Publications Junior Miss Pageant. From that she emerged as one of four winners with the title of Arlington Heights' Junior Miss. She also won the top scholastic award in that pageant.

Last January, in competition with 26 other Illinois high school senior girls, Pam won the title of Illinois' Junior Miss, and she will continue in that role until next winter's state pageant. As the reigning Junior Miss, she will participate in locally conducted pageants in Illinois this summer and next fall when possible to get away from her studies at Illinois Wesleyan University, where she will enroll in the nursing program in September.

A total of $45,000 in scholarships was awarded in this year's pageant with the winner receiving $10,000.

First runner-up and winner of a $6,000 scholarship was Missouri's Junior Miss, Anita Columba Deanne Allen of North Dakota was second runnerup, winning $4,000 in scholarship money.

Map School Plan

Guidelines for a consultant's study of the financial implications of a Dist. 214 shift to a year-round school operation will be drafted Tuesday by a High School Dist. 214 Citizens Committee group.

Dr. Conrad Mazeski of Mount Prospect heads the scheduling committee that will meet at 8 p.m. in the Dist. 214 administration building.

School board members who caucused with Mazeski's subcommittee Tuesday agreed that Dist. 214 should press ahead with a study of advantages and disadvantages of a year-round school calendar, seeking estimates for the financial study from a number of consulting firms.

ASST. SUPT. Roderick McLennan said the school administration should investigate the education advantages and disadvantages of the shift.

"We need a broad scope study," McLennan added, "covering seven to 10 different plans."

"I don't think anyone here is opposed to this," Mazeski returned. "I think we just need to agree on how we're going about it."

The committee suggested that a switch to a year-round school plan might make it unnecessary for Dist. 214 to build its eighth and ninth high schools. They said when the study is completed voters might be asked to take their choice between another high school and a 12-month school year.

Under a 12-month school year, a 2,500-pupil school might handle 3,400 students.

Board member Richard Stamm of Mount Prospect suggested that community pressure might force Dist. 214 to build more schools, despite the enrollment-stretching advantages of a year-round operation.

HE POINTED to Rolling Meadows' efforts to see another, the seventh, Dist. 214 high school be built in their community and said Buffalo Grove citizens might feel the same way two years from now.

Stamm also warned that there may be strong resistance to year round schools. He said that the calendar change might mean high school students would be on vacation for three weeks four times a year — a switch that would mean "a whole new way of life for district families."

Stevenson High Plans Spring Band Concert

"Sounds of '89," Adlai E. Stevenson High School's annual spring band concert, will be presented May 16, beginning at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Featured on the program will be jazz compositions, marches, classical and contemporary music.

Highlights of the concert will be performances by the brass sextet and the woodwind quintet. Both groups recently won superior ratings at the Illinois State Music Contest.

The brass group, which includes Paul Wilewski, Jeff Wischer, Dennis Bray, Paul Taylor, Jeff Leikman and Dave Gitten, will play the classical work, "Two Tunes and Ayre."

Quintet members Karen Young, Ina Salna, Donna Bartholme, Glen Salmen and Sue Bartholme will be featured in "Rustic Holiday."

THE 35-PIECE symphonic band will play "The Symphonic Scenario," from the television production "Victory at Sea," by Richard Rogers; "Magic Flute Overture," by Mozart; "Three Revolutionary Marches," by Smetana; "Dance and Intermezzo," by Leroy Anderson; and selections from the academy award-winning musical "Oliver."

Stevenson High School band director David Habley will be conducting the concert.

Admission to the concert is 75 cents and tickets may be purchased at the door or in advance from the band members. Profits from the concert will help purchase additional musical instruments for the band.

PTA Leaders Go To School

Approximately 150 PTA leaders in Dist. 54 will attend a school of instruction today from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Our Saviour's Methodist Church in Hoffman Estates.

The school is sponsored by Schaumburg Area PTA Council.

WORKSHOPS WILL be held for PTA chairmen and members in the areas of program, membership, legislation, school education, publicity, library services, cultural arts, and PTA Magazine and scholarship.

A luncheon will be served at 11:30 a.m.

New officers of the Schaumburg PTA Council will be installed. They are president, Mrs. Amy Badal; first vice president, Mrs. Shirley Rohde; second vice president, Mrs. William Hannon; treasurer, Mrs. Arline Czajkowski; and secretary, Mrs. Frank Dalla Valle.

Answers Hike Charges

Idealism and reality were balanced carefully by Mrs. Rena Trevor when she spoke to an Arlington High School sociology class yesterday.

Teenagers of Arlington Heights and other parts of the suburban Northwest marched in a Hike for the Hungry during a spring rain storm on April 4.

Funds raised by hikers were to be divided between the Northwest Opportunity Center and Ecuador agricultural project and a Biafran relief project.

The goal of the march, to help feed hungry people, is good, Mrs. Trevor said. "But it isn't that simple with the hidden poor we have here."

QUESTIONS AND OBJECTIONS have been raised about how the funds would be used by the opportunity center in Rolling Meadows. Mrs. Trevor said the funds would go for self developmental programs.

Mrs. Trevor is an active alternate delegate on the advisory committee of Norwesco, the Northwest Cook Opportunity Council. Norwesco is the founder of the Opportunity Center and is one of the three local groups which sponsor the center.

The Spanish-Americans in this area comprise about 90 per cent of the 700 or 800 poor families in the suburban Northwest. Mrs. Trevor said they are proud people who do not like to accept outright help like gifts of food, but would rather try to better themselves through educational programs.

THE YOUTHS WHO marched in the Hunger Hike knew funds would go to the Northwest Opportunity Center but did not know how the funds would be used. At a recent Norwesco meeting, charges were made that the funds should not be used to pay salaries of full-time staff people at the center.

Mrs. Trevor said the funds would be put to good use. She said there is a chance that some of the money will be used to feed hungry people on an emergency basis. However, most of the funds will probably go into educational programs.

Various programs offered by the Northwest Opportunity Center were explained to the teenagers by Mrs. Trevor. Programs include classes in English, basic math, citizenship and consumer goods. Other programs include providing transportation so that people can get to dentists who have volunteered to do free dental work and providing legal aid.

"WOMAN OF THE WEEK"

Mount Prospect Federal Savings and Loan Association is happy to salute Mrs. Victor Bittner, 300 W. Milburn, Mount Prospect, as "Woman of the Week," announcement made last Friday over WEXI 92.7 FM Arlington Heights.

Such recognition is deserved, for this longtime member of the Library Board is now devoting her civic interest primarily to preservation of Mount Prospect history, even to the extent of using a tape recorder in interviewing local residents who can provide information on links to the village's past.

Mrs. Bittner serves as president of the Mount Prospect Historical Society which has meetings each month and is now developing a history of Elk Grove Township, its pioneers, organizations and growth.

If Mount Prospect's history and collectible items are to be preserved, it is largely through the efforts of this public-spirited woman.

Who will be the next Man or Woman of the Week? Listen each Friday night at 7:15 p.m. to WEXI 92.7 FM on your dial.

Forest Plans International Seminar

An Arab and an Israeli originally from Palestine, a self-exile from Poland, a psychiatrist who has studied extensively in the Soviet Union, the chief judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia and other jurists and psychiatrists from Nigeria, Australia and Peru will gather at Forest Hospital in Des Plaines to discuss "Law, Social Customs and Psychiatry" Saturday and Sunday.

The men and women who will participate in this international meeting are jurists, psychiatrists and authorities on the behavioral sciences. During the meeting, they will participate in discussions with four student leaders of campus protests to discuss international turmoil and unrest and possible solutions.

THE DIGNITARIES who will form the panel to discuss "Law, Social Customs and Psychiatry" are Professor Ibrahim Abu-Lughod, Northwestern University; David L. Bazelon, chief judge, U.S. Court of Appeals; Henry A. Davidson, M.D., Essex County Overbrook Hospital; Professor Kai Erikson, Yale University; Dr. Jan Go-recki, Stanford University; Professor Manfred Halpern, Princeton University; Dr. T.A. Lambos, vice chancellor, University of Ibadan, Nigeria and Professor Norval Morris, University of Chicago Law School.

Others are Laura Nader, M.D., University of California, Berkeley; Professor Nadav Safran, Stanford University; Professor Carlos Alberto Seguin, University of Peru; Harold Visotsky, M.D., Chicago and Isidore Zifferstein, M.D., Los Angeles, California.

The program for the two-day meeting is as follows:

AFTER REGISTRATION of guests and the introduction of the principals Saturday at 9:30 a.m., each of the visiting panelists will make a presentation on "Law, Social Customs and Psychiatry," based upon his professional and cultural background.

At 11 a.m., the audience will respond to the presentation by the visitors. This will be followed by luncheon.

The confrontation between the university students and the panelists will take place at 1 p.m. This will be followed by an interchange between the students, panelists and the audience, with adjournment of the first day's proceedings at 4:30 p.m.

In-depth workshop discussions of "Law, Social Customs and Psychiatry," based upon the presentations and confrontation of the previous day, will begin on Sunday at 9:30 a.m. The workshop leaders include Dr. Benjamin Boshes, co-chairman of the department of psychiatry and neurology at Northwestern University. After a luncheon there will be a final critique by the panel followed by audience response. At 4 p.m., Dr. Mortimer Gross and Dr. Jules Masserman will summarize the proceedings and discussions of the two days.

THIS IS THE third consecutive year that the Forest Hospital Foundation and Northwestern University are co-sponsoring an international meeting devoted to a problem which affects people of all nations.

Last year, psychiatrists from Asia, South America, Europe and North America gathered at Forest Hospital in a similar meeting to discuss "Focus: Adolescence."

The previous year, the theme was "Family and Group Psychotherapy" with psychiatrists from Eastern Europe, Western Europe, the Middle East and North America participating.

The two-day meeting will include workshop discussions as well as give and take between audience and visiting authorities in the general sessions of the two-day meeting.

Reservations are $25 per person, including luncheon. Because of space limitations, only the first 150 reservations can be accepted.

Forest Hospital is at 555 Wilson Lane, Des Plaines.

ESP Expert To Appear

Clifford M. Royce, Jr., the high priest of extra sensory perception (ESP), will make a one-night stand at Randhurst Saturday beginning at 8 p.m. in the town hall room.

Royce is director of the Chicago Psychic Center 32 N. State Street.

Nationally recognized as an authority on ESP, he is the sixth generation of psychics in his family.

He is known for his world predictions, which are always made at least one year in advance.

SOME OF HIS predictions were that President Johnson would not re-run for office that Martin Luther King would be assassinated and the circumstances surrounding his death that Richard Nixon would be the Republican candidate for president and that he would go on to win, and that Charles DeGaulle of France would vacate his office and be succeeded by one even less cooperative in world affairs.

Royce contends anyone can develop ESP through proper training, practice and usage.

The lecture slated for Saturday, entitled

"You and the World of ESP," will explore what this extra sensory ability is, who has it, how it works and how to develop it.

As proof of his ESP ability, Royce will make a public demonstration at the end of the lecture. Everyone is invited.

Presbyterian Women To Man Booths at Benefit Fair

Each year under the combined sponsorship of the board of directors, the staff, the auxiliary and neighborhood residents, Christopher House, a settlement house at 2507 N. Greenview in Chicago, puts on a 2-day Christown Fair. Purpose of the Fair is to provide for interaction between suburban and central city residents, youth and the aged, and to raise funds.

This year the fair is under the overall direction of Special Events Co-Chairmen Mrs. Lloyd A. Byerhof, 730 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, and Jose Rodriguez of Chicago.

One of the eight booths manned by Christopher House Auxiliary members will be a Country Store featuring boutique items made by members of the Women's Association of Southminster United Presbyterian Church, Arlington Heights, under the direction of Mrs. George V. Carey, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Byron R. Hodgkin, Rolling Meadows. First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights will sponsor a White Elephant Booth, and Community Presbyterian Church of Mount Prospect will have a Toy Booth.

Sale items are priced according to the ability to pay of neighborhood residents served by Christopher House, and since Mother's Day follows the fair, it is hoped that children will find a wide selection of gifts they can afford.

THERE WILL BE a variety of games, prizes and a snack bar in addition to the booths. Friday's events will be climaxed by a smorgasbord dinner for which Mrs. A. G. Law, Arlington Heights, is responsible. Saturday's highlight will be a teen dance.

Christopher House Auxiliary is composed of active representatives from city and suburban Presbyterian Women's Associations. Mrs. J. F. Katig, 1307 Heather Lane, Arlington Heights, was recently elected president of this group.

Consumer Accident Data Is Difficult To Obtain

It's more difficult to obtain accident data on consumer products, both household and recreational, than it is on other kinds of accidents.

That was the testimony of Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council, when he appeared before a national commission hearing on "How Safe Are Household Products?"

"No group — not the government, insurance companies or the National Safety Council — has enough reliable data on such accidents," he said.

In contrast to traffic accidents involving personal injury, injuries from consumer products may not be reported at all. Even when they are, the reports rarely contain sufficient data to pinpoint the cause of the accident, and they are not reported to any organization that analyzes accident data.

To offset these problems, Pyle recommended that a national system be set up for collecting and analyzing data on accidents involving consumer products. He emphasized such a system would greatly reduce the guesswork in accident prevention, and urged the National Commission on Product Safety to recommend that Congress authorize appropriations on a continuing basis to support such a data system.

Mayors Enjoy Luau at 'Y'

Mayors and village presidents of six northwest suburbs and their wives dined and danced in Hawaiian style along with more than 300 other guests at the annual luau dinner dance at Northwest Suburban YMCA Saturday evening.

Joining in the festivities were Mayor and Mrs. Herbert Behrel of Des Plaines, Mayor and Mrs. Roland Meyers of Rolling Meadows, President and Mrs. Robert Teichert of Mount Prospect, President and Mrs. Jack Moodie of Palatine, President and Mrs. Jack Pahl of Elk Grove Village and President and Mrs. Ted Scanlon of Wheeling.

FOLLOWING THE buffet dinner at 6:30 p.m., the mayors and their wives led off the dancing that lasted until 11 o'clock. The village leaders received orchids for their lapels, and their first ladies were given orchid corsages.

Originally organized by Mrs. Grace Hansen, who directs the ballroom dance program at the "Y," the dinner dances have become so popular there is now a

For Her It's Chicken Feathers

Scents May Trigger Memories

by BILLIE HACHHUBER

Man's nose may lead the way down memory lane more often than most of us realize. A faint whiff of a familiar scent, associated with happenings of the past, and away we go along paths trod before. Or sometimes it may be a combination of odors that will launch us on our "trip."

Ivory soap, coconut cake and perking coffee; these three combine to reverse time for me. Once again I am eight years old, skinny and freckle-faced, sitting in a cozy kitchen, warm and secure in my grandmother's love.

The earthy smell emanating from digging in flower beds or while repotting plants immediately transports me to the basement of my childhood home in Ohio. Years ago resurfaced with cement, the basement floor was once hard clay. And what has been a fruit cellar for many years was then a delightful mound of black dirt! Though my mother didn't relish her grimy brood after their glorious tumblings in that favorite spot, we sneaked there again and again.

ANY ENCOUNTER WITH the fragrance of fresh mushrooms and I am a youngster again, roaming freely the nearby cow pastures in search of "puff balls" and umbrella-type mushrooms with pink linings. Mom always knew exactly when to send us a searching, and we never failed to come home loaded down with delicious edible fungi. You haven't really lived until you've tasted a "puff ball" sandwich; thick slices first sauteed in creamy butter!

Perfumes of all kinds can evoke very special memories. There are a "his" shaving lotion and a "her" fragrance for almost all of us. Perfumes from lilacs wafting on the spring breeze, the incomparable fragrance of a rose, the spicy smell of nasturtiums and unforgettable sweetness of lilies and honeysuckle each may hold special significance for some. And who can forget the heavy, romantic scent of gardenias and high school proms?

PROBABLY NOTHING PRODUCES instant nostalgia more quickly than cooking odors. For you it may be Irish stew, spaghetti, pot roast, corn-on-the-cob or chili sauce, but for me, it's chicken feathers!

Even a feather pillow sends me back to the days when we killed and plucked our own chickens. A large pot of boiling water, dunk the fowl and pull out handfuls of feathers — that was the recipe for plucking feathers before we could enjoy the aroma of roasting chicken and dressing.

Plucking feathers and filling the small tank for the kitchen kerosene stove are among my most wished-they-could-be-forgotten memories! However, the pungent odor of kerosene evokes conflicting waves of nostalgia. It takes me back to my childhood, revives happy times enjoyed with husband and children at our north woods cottage and may even carry me far into the future. Have you smelled the northwest suburban atmosphere lately? After a series of jet takeoffs from O'Hare Field?

Color Expresses Your Personality

by GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 16-year-old girl of our acquaintance painted each wall of her room in a different, splashy color—red, yellow, blue and green.

"Groovy," she called the results. Experts on the psychology of color would agree although perhaps not in the same terms. For we respond to color more than we sometimes are aware and more and more the researchers are finding out why and how.

"Color is probably the first thing that most people see when they enter a room," says one interior decorator. A thought to keep in mind, as the spring redecorating season arrives.

To experts like the decorators, color performs many functions. It builds an esthetic effect. It expresses the personalities of those who live there. It conserves light. It sets the mood and it makes life and work in the room more satisfying.

"Next to speech," says decorator Mary Jane Alexander, "color is our most important means of self-expression." But in using color, the experts suggest, there are no pat formulas. Selecting color is really not an intellectual decision but one in which our feelings and opinions should be our guide.

In doing a room, decide what the prominent color should be. Bright colors are stimulating and exciting and are used most effectively in small areas such as an orange door or sofa pillows of red, violet and blue. They become overpowering, however, when used in large amounts.

If one wants a room to be feminine, pinks help to give this appearance. If masculine, tan, blues and greens create a feeling of coolness, which makes them a good choice for rooms that get hot southern and western sunlight. Warm colors like red and orange add cheerfulness.

Sherwin-Williams paint company has compiled a 46-page source book called the "Story of Color." It is stuffed with assorted facts such as:

—Did you know that business and industry recognize about 500,000 colors?

—Did you know that women are affected more by color than men are? The American Medical Association (AMA) says so.

—Did you know your color preferences are a key to your personality? Psychiatrists say if you prefer blue, you are an introvert and are circumspect; green, you like security and probably are upper middle class; red, you tend to be impulsive and like whoop-de-do.

Plant Sale Saturday At Wayside Church

The annual plant sale of the Women's Club of Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Church, Arlington Heights, will be held in the rectory garage Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The garage will become a "greenhouse" for hundreds of popular annuals including sweet alyssum, aster, celosia, marigold, dianthus, cushion mums, snapdragons, verbena, zinnia, sweet peppers, several varieties of tomato and a wide selection of geraniums.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Herbert Church and Mrs. Louis Reinert. Ways and Means co-chairmen are Mrs. John Holland and Mrs. Eugene Besler.

MRS. TED SCANLON and her husband, village president of Wheeling, serve themselves at the Hawaiian luau feast that preceded Saturday evening's dance at Northwest Suburban YMCA. That's Jack Pahl, president of Elk Grove Village, in the background. Heads of six villages and their wives attended.

The bride was an 1884 wedding gown modeled by Mrs. Gene Peterson, originally worn by her grandmother and mother. It is fashioned with a pink pleated skirt of heavy satins with brocade bodice with hand sewn pearl appliques. Believed to have been originally an ecru the gown has mellowed into a dark brown shade.

Commentator for the show was Mrs. Albert Hillert, program chairman, and co-chairman of the event were Mrs. Clarence Spiereder and Mrs. Joseph Marich. Organist Mrs. Chris Devonna played the bridal music for the procession.

Change in Wall Decor Can Give a New Look

When you have that spring fever urge to change your home, you might find a change in wall decor can give you the new look it needs. The Picture and Frame Institute, 1593 Ellinwood, says the mood of a room can be changed by a new look in wall decor. A rearrangement of pictures already own along with a few well-placed additions.

print traditionally assigned to the bedroom would look interesting in a hallway, or the small etching in the living room would make a unique addition to the bathroom.

If you have a solitary picture hanging above your living room sofa, consider adding two or three more framed pieces to form an eye-catching grouping. Or select a set of black-and-white etchings matted in a complementary color, to add new interest to your dining area.

Suburban Living

Especially for the Family

Give her a cuddly bundle of love for Mother's Day

At Puppy Palace, a small deposit will hold him. And you can take up to two years to pay.

This Mother's Day, let a puppy snuggle its way into Mom's heart. Puppy Palace will help you choose just the perfect puppy from 43 different breeds.

"We'll sell you the right puppy—or no puppy at all!"

But we won't let you walk out of Puppy Palace with just any old breed. Because it doesn't make sense to match a big, active dog to a small apartment. Or a tiny, delicate puppy to a family with lots of young, hard-playing children. Or a puppy who sheds easily to a Mom who has lots of dark, nubby upholstery.

So we'll ask you some important questions. Questions about your home. And about your furniture. And about Mom's temperament. Then we'll help you pick out a puppy Mom will be certain to love.

7-day trial and 2 years to pay

Just to make sure we've sold you the right puppy, we'll let you take him home to Mom for seven days. If it's not a perfect love match, simply bring him back and we'll exchange him for another puppy of equal value. And just to make Mother's Day easier on your pocketbook, we'll let you take up to two years to pay for your puppy.

He'll live 10 years or we'll help pay

Every Puppy Palace puppy is a purebred. Every puppy has undergone an extensive health program. Every one has his puppy shots. We're so confident of our puppies that we make this promise:

Your puppy will live at least 10 years—or we'll contribute to the price of a new one from Puppy Palace. (Naturally, we expect you to take reasonable care of your puppy. And you should check him with a veterinarian soon after purchase.)

Come in now

Come into Puppy Palace today. (We'll be getting busier and busier as Mother's Day comes closer.) Let a cuddly bundle of love say Happy Mother's Day for you.

Fortas Impeachment?

WASHINGTON—Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., R-Ohio, predicted Wednesday that an impeachment bill will be filed against Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas unless there is further explanation of a fee he accepted from financier Louis Wolfson, who has since gone to jail for stock market law violations.

Fortas said he took a fee, but later returned it when he discovered he would not be able to advise and write for Wolfson's family foundation. Taft said that unless Fortas explains further, "impeachment is a good possibility."

Gas Plan Probe Asked

WASHINGTON—An investigation into a Pentagon plan to dispose of World War II stocks of poison gas in the Atlantic Ocean was asked yesterday by Rep. Richard McCarthy, D-N.Y.

McCarthy questioned whether rail shipments of the gas to the East Coast posed a public danger and whether dumping the gas in the ocean endangered marine life. The Transportation Department confirmed that the gas is to be shipped May 16.

$520 Aid Level Asked

SPRINGFIELD—Governor Ogilvie yesterday asked the legislature to raise the basic school foundation level to $520 per pupil — $20 more than he requested in his budget.

The additional $20 will not increase Ogilvie's recommended $850 million in state aid, but would come from greater-than-expected property tax collections.

Employees Union OK'd

SPRINGFIELD—A bill to allow public employees to organize, but not to strike, was passed and sent to the House yesterday by the state Senate. The collective bargaining bill creates a state public employees' labor relations board to mediate disputes between unions and employers.

The employer is required to seek an injunction in the event of a strike.

'Little FBI' Passed

SPRINGFIELD—The Senate Wednesday passed and sent to the House the Ogilvie administration proposal for a new law enforcement department, including a "little FBI."

All Democrats abstained in the 37-0 vote, registering opposition to the provision allowing the attorney general to begin prosecutions in counties if he wishes.

Train Bill Backed

SPRINGFIELD—Passage of a bill to enable Chicago to tear down its elevated train system and expand the subway system was recommended yesterday by the House Municipalities Committee. The bill would enable cities, including Chicago, to create special taxing districts to finance mass transportation improvements.

Chicago hopes to tax downtown businesses to raise about one-third of the money needed to replace the famous Loop elevated train tracks with two subway additions.

Transfer Principal

CHICAGO—Norman Silber, the white principal of largely Negro Englewood High School was transferred to another school yesterday at his own request, after an estimated 1,000 students demonstrated, demanding his dismissal. Silber's transfer ended school disturbances which started when he fired George Spencer, a Negro teacher, and then had him arrested when Spencer refused to leave the building.

Pope Hits Toy Guns

VATICAN CITY—Pope Paul VI told an apparently unappreciative audience of European toy manufacturers yesterday that toy weapons are bad for children. The Pope said that some toys "have a great educational importance," but "weapons develop aggressiveness, other toys incite cruelty toward animals, and still others invite dangerous attitudes."

COOPERATION WITH schools and community organizations is seen as a key factor in the development of a successful park and recreational program by Paul Derda, superintendent of Schaumburg and Roselle park districts.

Summer Recreation Grows

by PAT GERLACH

"Our recreational program will serve twice as many people, both children and adults, as it did last summer," predicted Paul Derda, Schaumburg Park District director of parks and recreation.

Now approaching his first anniversary as the shared park superintendent of Schaumburg and neighboring Roselle, Derda is extremely enthusiastic about plans for both communities.

One of his major projects during the past few months was the successful passage of a $400,000 bond issue in Roselle which will, among other things, permit development of two major park sites and swimming pool complex.

WORKING OUT OF AN office in Schaumburg's Jennings House, Derda, formerly director of recreation in Parsons and Topeka, Kans., serves both districts and maintains a full schedule of activities, including board meetings, speaking engagements and general involvement in both towns.

He is enthusiastic about the growth and potential in Schaumburg and excited about being able to move that park summer program out to various neighborhoods this year.

Through the use of Dist. 54 elementary schools, the park district will offer summer activities at a number of locations in the village.

"A PARK-SCHOOL agreement is the only way for the taxpayer to get the maximum for his money," Derda, a graduate of Washburn University, Topeka, believes.

He is all for complete co-operation between park and school districts and expressed high praise for the relationship so far established with Dist. 54.

Derda is also anticipating a close relationship with High School Dist. 211; an agreement there is now in the exploratory stages.

"This kind of cooperation is good and much needed, but we must maintain our own identity as a park district all the same," he said.

He looks forward to expanding the park program to outlying sectors of the village such as Timbercrest, Carlisle, Benwick and Sunset Estates as soon as possible.

MUCH OF THE activity now revolves around Jennings House Youth Center in Weathersfield, where the bulk of activities is held.

Derda is convinced that a good park program must offer "something for everyone" and must also be compatible with other community activities, such as the YMCA, which he admits to be "tickled to death" at having in the area.

"Some people think that this could put a crimp in our plans, but that's just not so. Growing communities like Schaumburg must have a variety of activities and offerings and I'm all the way behind each of them," Derda said.

His long-range plans call for implementation of a master plan developed by McFadden and Everly, Ltd., park and recreational planners, several years ago.

EVENTUALLY this will mean a referendum and tax rate increases for Schaumburg residents, Derda knows, but in the meantime he is busy building and expanding a well planned program.

Under Derda's direction, Jennings House is "hopping most of the time."

Conant Students Plan Other-Half Study Trip

More than 450 seniors from Conant High School in Schaumburg Township will be taking study tours in Chicago this month to see how the other half lives.

The students will take all-day study trips to learn about Negro life, Puerto Rican life, housing, and religions in Chicago. Each student has a choice of which tour he will take.

Tours are intended to bring suburban youngsters into contact with forms of metropolitan life they would not normally experience.

About 150 seniors will travel to Chicago on three different dates — May 13, 14, and 21. All of the pupils are enrolled in Conant's Senior Social Science Survey class.

The inter-cultural field trips, which were arranged by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, will culminate a month's study of contemporary social problems, said Mrs. Jill Wettersten, social studies department chairman.

"A LOT OF PEOPLE are aware of our social problems today," Mrs. Wettersten observed, "but they fail to realize the complexity of these problems."

The urban trips to study Negro life and Chicago's various religions drew the largest student response, Mrs. Wettersten said.

On the Negro life tour, students will visit Chicago public housing sites, talk with an official of the Chicago Urban League, tour Dunbar Vocational High School, and visit the offices of Johnson Publishing Co., publishers of Ebony magazine.

Students on the tour to study Puerto Rican life will visit a migration center, a real estate office serving Puerto Ricans, a social service center and Wells High School in Chicago.

HOUSING PROJECTS visited on the Chicago housing tour will include projects in Hyde Park and Woodlawn, as well as low and middle-income housing in integrated communities.

The tour of religions in Chicago will include visits to a B'hai Temple, a Buddhist Temple, and Orthodox and Reform synagogues.

Students who take the Negro life and Puerto Rican life tours will eat lunch in Chicago high schools.

The Conant seniors will leave by bus at 8:30 a.m. on each of the tour days and return by 3:45 p.m. There will be no cost except for lunch.

"Hopefully, these tours will provide the seniors with a better understanding and appreciation of their own community," Mrs. Wettersten declared.

Stage Land Grab

Elk Grove Village trustees this week set the stage for getting better than a 10 per cent public land donation out of Centex's residential developments west of Highway 53 in the village.

A major beneficiary will be Schaumburg Dist. 54, which must provide seven schools to serve the 3,500 homes Centex will build in the western part of Elk Grove Village during the next few years.

The trustees' platform for their land grab maneuvering was a joint meeting of village, park district, school and plan commission officials with Centex representatives.

Officially the meeting was called to discuss a proposed Centex residential subdivision billed as "Section 17," west of Illinois Route 53 between Biesterfeld and Nerge roads — the first Centex housing development in Dist. 54.

BUT TRUSTEES Charles Zettek and Ronald Chernick made it clear early in the meeting that they intended to set a precedent that would bind Centex officials to donate all the school, park and village lands needed in Elk Grove Village areas served by the Schaumburg elementary district.

Centex representatives Robert Winkle and Robert Calkins turned alternately agreeable and glum as the trustees' intent was made clear.

Winkle made no commitment, standing his ground on the same Elk Grove Village ordinance cited by trustees. The ordinance requires 10 per cent of any development acreage be donated for public use.

But public land needs in the new Centex developments will go well past that 10 per cent, amounting to 50 acres for the eventual 1,100 acres planned for homesites.

Public land needs will total 80 to 100 acres, based on estimates made at Monday's meeting.

Wayne Schaible, Dist. 54 superintendent, estimated he will need 31 to 25 acres for six elementary schools and a junior high to serve the area.

High School Dist. 211 will be asked what land it needs in the area. It was not represented Monday.

Park Dist. Pres. Ed Hauser said the park district will want six acres per school site plus 25 acres for a community park.

The village has already said it will need 10 acres for municipal uses such as a well site and a fire station.

THE VILLAGE, park district and Elk Grove Dist. 59 have worked out an agreeable arrangement where park-school sites are shared and used for school or recreational use year-round.

Schaible said Dist. 54 has park-school lease agreements with two other park districts already and would be agreeable to a similar setup with the Elk Grove Village park system.

Because this was the first session joint meeting between Dist. 54 and the village and park boards, committee chairman Richard McGreener was meticulous in explaining how the village board handles land donation matters.

Chernick explained, "We want to be the middleman. We want to control where donated land goes."

Turning to Centex spokesman Winkle, Chernick declared, "If you want to give land to the school, fine. Then we would give the 10 per cent donated to us to the park district."

Alternate Route Given

In an informal meeting Tuesday, Hanover Park Village Pres. Richard Baker unveiled a proposed alternate route to the expressway which will be constructed through the village, connecting O'Hare Field and Elgin (new Route 19).

The new route approaches Hanover Park from the east and crosses just east of the intersection of Lake Street and Ontarioville Road, passes through undeveloped sections of Ontarioville, then proceeds west into the Bartlett and Streamwood industrial areas, swings to the north and crosses Lake Street just west of the village hall.

Baker reported that his plan had been shown informally to state highway representatives and that they indicated their approval.

A meeting is scheduled this afternoon to discuss any objections to the route. Baker said the proposed route as explained above will be presented to highway officials formally at the public meeting.

Baker said the proposed route "takes our neighbors into consideration. As far as we can tell it does not pass through any built-up areas in Bartlett, Streamwood or Schaumburg."

He also said the route, prepared with the cooperation of village engineer Larry Grindel, offers enough flexibility in case of objections. It could be moved a few hundred feet either way.

Baker urged concerned residents to continue the campaign objecting to "Alternate 1," which would have sliced through the village.

He said the final route is far from acceptance and several more hearings will occur before firm commitments are made by the highway division. No official action will take place at today's 2 p.m. meeting in the Schaumburg Great Hall. It is solely for the purpose of placing objections on the record.

HIGGINS ROAD in Schaumburg Township will be four lanes between Interstate 90 and Meacham Road. Construction started several weeks ago on the widening project, being handled by the Illinois Division of Highways. Work on the $1.4 million project is expected to be completed by the end of November.

Keeps Pet Fox

by MARY DRESSER

George Griffith, an eighth grader at Holmes Junior High School in Wheeling should have lived a hundred years ago.

His teacher, Mrs. Mary L. Hall, says George, who is the "kindest child," would have been a hero in an American frontier community because he is a natural woodsman.

Today, George, a quiet boy, spends a lot of time alone, observing animals.

Last Tuesday George brought a 4-week-old toothless baby fox to school and hesitantly explained to his TV-brain-washed classmates what it is like to see nature existing all around them.

HIS CLASSMATES gaped as George handed the baby fox and showed them how the grey, baby-fur, would eventually turn red.

The fox is now so tame the animal followed George around the classroom, responding to his voice.

George knew exactly where to look for a fox den when he went on his expedition to the woods near Wheeling weeks ago.

He found the fox den where he expected it, and took the fox from its growling mother.

The fox mother didn't build a very good den George observes wisely, calling her a "dumb den mother."

George took the baby fox home and is now raising the animal in his bedroom.

"I can't let the fox outside," he explains, "because even a very well trained dog would automatically kill a fox."

GEORGE DOESN'T know what he will do with the animal once it is full size. Turning it loose is no solution because by now the fox is so accustomed to people it might be killed while making friendly overtures at some homeowner's back door.

Mrs. Hall is trying to interest George in getting a job with a zoo or a veterinarian this summer because of his remarkable knowledge of animals.

George has suffered in his pursuit of nature lore. Two weeks ago he fell out of a tree while observing baby raccoons and he is still under a doctor's care.

However, last week George was back up in a tree, this time taking movies of a mother fox feeding and caring for her cubs.

George knows where to find the wild animals he loves because nature has been his textbook.

Studying Disannex

Committees are presently at work gathering facts and figures in conjunction with the Schaumburg School Study Committee, according to Mrs. James Guthrie, committee co-chairman.

Reports of the five subcommittees will be pre-ented publicly after pertinent information is collected and assimilated. Mrs. Guthrie said. However, the research phase is expected to take "around six months."

It is entirely possible that the study will ultimately decide that disannexation of Schaumburg schools from Dist. 54 is not feasible," stated Mrs. Guthrie.

The feasibility study on disannexation was initiated by Mrs. Guthrie and Mrs. Gordon Mullins, both of whom raised objections to raises granted to Dist. 54 school administrators for next year.

Five subcommittees are collecting data on various aspects of disannexation and its implications. These are assessed evaluation, student population in the next 10 years, school operational costs, bonded indebtedness, and educational program evaluation.

"The education evaluation report will probably be completed last," Mrs. Guthrie said.

The 1968 assessed evaluation of Dist. 54 is approximately $115 million. The latest census figure of Schaumburg indicates the population is 13,860.

There are three avenues by which disannexation of Schaumburg schools could be accomplished:

—A referendum approved by voters in both Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates.

—Voluntary granting of disannexation by the Dist. 54 school board.

—Accumulating the signatures of two-thirds of registered voters in the proposed new school district for submitting to the Cook County board of school trustees.

However, each method of disannexation requires the ultimate approval of the Cook County school trustees.

The co-chairmen of the Schaumburg School Study Committee have indicated that in the future Schaumburg will need several new schools because of its potential development, while Hoffman Estates will need comparatively fewer ones.

Yoga Exercises

Yoga the exercises for attaining body or mental control and well-being, will be offered to women at the Elgin YWCA beginning May 28.

Beginners will meet at 9 a.m., with advanced students scheduled for 10 a.m.

A coed program for those interested will also be held on Wednesdays, beginning May 14, with beginners at 7:30 p.m., advanced students at 8:30 p.m. The coed classes are designed for family participation.

Church Dedicates Mobile Classrooms

Two mobile classroom units used in the religious education program of Church of the Cross United Presbyterian church in Hoffman Estates were dedicated Sunday in a special ceremony.

The congregation also observed the fifth anniversary of the building of its sanctuary this week.

Arlington Heights' and Schaumburg's efforts to gain cultural centers gained a giant boost from a committee of the Illinois House.

The House Municipalities Committee unanimously approved Rep. Eugene Schlickman's, R-3rd, bill to permit municipalities to establish and finance cultural centers.

The bill will go to the full House next week for a vote.

Schlickman, obviously relieved after the unanimous approval, told the Herald that he was especially excited over the wide range of possibilities for usage that his bill would allow.

Section one of the bill permits a city or town to establish a cultural center containing space for art exhibits, theater groups, museums, and any other activity "enhancing the cultural and intellectual level of the community."

THE BILL ALSO sets up procedures for communities to purchase land and finance construction of such centers.

According to House Bill 2703, a community may acquire property by purchase, lease, as a gift, or through condemnation of property.

The purchase of land and operation of the center can be covered by revenue bonds, and they can be paid back solely by revenue derived from the center.

The bill also includes a provision to allow portions of the center to be rented out to firms connected with a cultural event.

It allows a community to approve a majority vote any tax assessed to cover the cost of a cultural center. Finally, voter approval is necessary if general obligation bonds are issued to finance the center.

ALSO, THE ADMINISTRATION of a cultural center can be controlled by any arm of government — an existing board or commission — or a special committee approved by ordinance.

Jack Siegel, who serves as attorney for Arlington Heights and Schaumburg, was the only person to testify in favor of the bill before the committee. No one spoke in opposition.

The bill, if approved by the legislature, will give Arlington Heights the opportunity to plunge ahead with long-delayed plans for a center.

Village Pres John Walsh explained that, at the present time, no machinery exists for a village to finance or operate a cultural center.

He stressed that it creates the avenues to seek voter approval of funds — if no other means can be found to finance such a center.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS' struggle to make a cultural center more than a dream began in 1966, when trustees began considering a site.

In January, 1966, the village purchased one square block of land bounded by Dunton, Val, Fremont, and St James, the block directly south of the Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

George Beacham, library trustee, was appointed last fall to head a citizen's committee on the center. However, progress has been stalled, because of a lack of the mechanics necessary for construction.

Dist. 54 Sign-Up

Registration of Dist. 54 kindergarten pupils entering school next fall will be held today at all elementary schools in the Schaumburg Township school district.

An enrollment of approximately 1,800 kindergarten pupils is expected. Mrs. Mary Zimmerman is Dist. 54 kindergarten director.

Parents are to register their children at the elementary schools in their neighborhoods. Registration hours are from 9 to 11:30 a.m. for students whose last names begin with A to L, and from 1 to 3 p.m.

for those whose names begin with M through Z.

CHILDREN ENTERING school for the first time will need birth certificates. All children entering kindergarten next fall must be 5 years old by Dec. 1, 1969.

Illinois law requires that children starting school or entering kindergarten must have physical and dental examinations. Forms will be issued to parents today during registration.

Parents are urged to make medical appointments as early as possible to avoid the late summer rush.

Hunt for Manager Near

After Hoffman Estates trustees define criteria and write a job description, Drs. Frank Endicott and William Hazard, of Northwestern University Placement Bureau, will probably begin a search for a slate of candidates for the vacant position of village manager.

At Monday night's village board meeting, Endicott and Hazard told trustees they are certain that they can identify a number of candidates for the post, but stressed also that they are not interested in doing things the board is capable of accomplishing.

Although both have had experience in identifying personnel, their chief experience to date lies in the field of school superintendent recruitment.

BOTH ENDICOTT and Hazard were instrumental in the selection of Dr. Kenneth Underwood, former Dist. 54 superintendent, and in this capacity worked with Village Pres. Frederick E. Downey and Trustee Virginia Hayter, former members of the board of education.

After criteria and qualifications have been determined by the village board, Endicott and Hazard will act as "insulators" in the screening process and hope to identify a slate of possibly 8 to 10 candidates from a larger field of applicants.

The two indicated that such a slate could be presented within four weeks, although the actual interviewing and hiring will be done by the board.

Their fee could range from $1,000 to $1,500 depending on how much work the board determines should be done by the consultants.

Sex Education Causes Heated Debate

by SUE CARSON

Parents and educators in School Dist. 21 erupted Tuesday night at a meeting called to discuss the district's sex education program.

Discussion was so heated that the meeting threatened to become a riot at several points.

The meeting at the Joyce Kilmer School in Buffalo Grove was conducted by the Concerned Parents Committee (CPC), a group of parents organized last month to investigate the method of teaching sex and family living in the district schools.

Robert Hopkins, president of the CPC, told a noisy, standing-room-only crowd that the CPC had intended the meeting to be informative only.

"OUR ORGANIZATION has no political motivation and we have no personal vendetta against the school system. We are not seeking to create controversy. We only want to give the people the chance to discuss this program," Hopkins said.

The group borrowed five films and slideslips used in district sex education courses to be shown following the formal presentation.

The CPC says the sex education program is being conducted without the approval of the parents or the school board, that the program has moral implications and that some of the material is being introduced to the children before they are emotionally mature enough to cope with it.

Hopkins specifically objected to one of the films, "Boy to Man," because it states that masturbation will not cause mental illness and is not physically harmful to the individual.

"ALTHOUGH PARTS OF this film are good, it definitely has moral implications. The district seems to be going in for pseudo-religion," Hopkins said.

Hopkins admitted he hadn't screened several of the five films shown at the meeting but said he was objecting to them on the basis of reference material he had examined and "the objections of other people."

Mrs. Gloria Pfister, director of publicity for the CPC, said an examination of the minutes of Dist. 21 Board of Education meetings revealed that no written approval was given by the board for implementing the sex education program.

She also said the book, "A Baby Is Born," is recommended reading for children in grades two, three and four in the district and is on the library shelf at Louis Alcott School. "This same book is on the restricted shelf at the Arlington Heights Library," she claimed.

A check by The Herald revealed that the book is on the closed shelf in the children's section of the Arlington Heights Library and may be taken out by adults.

THROUGHOUT THE two-hour meeting, individuals in the audience shouted comments and some took the floor to give their own opinions.

Jack Kimsey, youth officer with the Wheeling Police Department, won applause when he said, "You (parents) are underestimating your own children."

Speaking in favor of the district's program, Kimsey said terrified students come to him frequently to discuss their sexual problems.

"It is a sad commentary that the children of today are so ill-informed," Kimsey said.

The next round in the sex education con-

Improve Math Curriculum

(Various curriculum areas in the Dist. 54 educational program were evaluated by a state team of visiting educators. Today the mathematics report is presented.)

Evaluation of the Dist. 54 mathematics curriculum in the state visitation report adds up to a balanced equation of some praise and some criticism.

In regard to the strengths of the district's mathematics curriculum, the report says "The district has recently employed a highly competent mathematics consultant."

Through his efforts, teachers are growing professionally by using a sound travel policy to attend mathematics meetings, an outstanding workshop program is being conducted, and a fitted program in mathematics is in operation in the fourth grade at MacArthur School.

REGARDING program weaknesses, the report notes a lack of worthwhile instructional devices, especially the manipulatives and "an acute shortage of reference books for teachers and library books for students in the area of mathematics."

The evaluation report says elementary teachers generally lack sufficient training in mathematics. Such teachers should have had at least eight semester hours of college mathematics, according to the math supervisor Joseph P. Cech.

New math is being taught in all Dist.

54 schools.

Recommendations for improving the math curriculum in the district included:

—The travel policy which enables teachers to attend professional meetings at school expense should be continued.

—More manipulative aids for teaching math should be purchased.

—Mathematics reference books for teachers and library books for pupils should be available in greater numbers.

—The district's mathematics consultant should make recommendations concerning the hiring of junior high mathematics teachers.

—Gifted program in math should be expanded to more schools and more grades.

—Mathematics workshops should be continued and teachers encouraged to attend.

—A curriculum guide should be adopted that includes objectives of mathematics education and a plan for continuous evaluation of math program.

Dist. 54 mathematics consultant Carl Seltzer says colleges generally do not provide sufficient training in the teaching of mathematics for education majors. Consequently, he conducts a number of in-service workshops after school.

IN REGARD TO revolutionary teaching methods, the second grade class of Mrs. Merilee Elliott at Campanelli School studied math this year with a self-contained system known as the Cuisenaire Rods. No textbook was used. Instead, pupils learned addition, subtraction, multiplication and division with the rods.

This summer five Dist. 54 elementary teachers will attend a five-week mathematics course conducted by the National College of Education in Arlington Heights. The five were awarded scholarships through the teacher training and development center in Elk Grove.

According to Seltzer, every Dist. 54 elementary school has at least one complete set of the Madison Project materials for teaching mathematics. These learning aids motivate pupils through a game approach to math. Pupils can see, feel and touch devices which represent mathematical concepts and have fun too.

THE MADISON materials include peg boards, geoboards, rubber bands and colored blocks. These manipulatives supplement the regular math curriculum. Students also have a mathematics textbook.

Twenty-four pupils are in the math class for gifted pupils at MacArthur School this year. Next year it will include the fifth grade.

Approximately 1,000 Dist. 54 sixth-grade pupils were tested in mathematics earlier this year in order to place them in seventh grade classes.

Fortas Impeachment?

WASHINGTON—Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., R-Ohio, predicted Wednesday that an impeachment bill will be filed against Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas unless there is further explanation of a fee he accepted from financier Louis Wolfson, who has since gone to jail for stock market law violations.

Fortas said he took a fee, but later returned it when he discovered he would not be able to advise and write for Wolfson's family foundation. Taft said that unless Fortas explains further, "impeachment is a good possibility."

Gas Plan Probe Asked

WASHINGTON—An investigation into a Pentagon plan to dispose of World War II stocks of poison gas in the Atlantic Ocean was asked yesterday by Rep. Richard McCarthy, D-N.Y.

McCarthy questioned whether rail shipments of the gas to the East Coast posed a public danger and whether dumping the gas in the ocean endangered marine life. The Transportation Department confirmed that the gas is to be shipped May 16.

$520 Aid Level Asked

SPRINGFIELD—Governor Ogilvie yesterday asked the legislature to raise the basic school foundation level to $520 per pupil — $20 more than he requested in his budget.

The additional $20 will not increase Ogilvie's recommended $630 million in state aid, but would come from greater-than-expected property tax collections.

Employees Union OK'd

SPRINGFIELD—A bill to allow public employees to organize, but not to strike, was passed and sent to the House yesterday by the state Senate. The collective bargaining bill creates a state public employees' labor relations board to mediate disputes between unions and employers.

The employer is required to seek an injunction in the event of a strike.

'Little FBI' Passed

SPRINGFIELD—The Senate Wednesday passed and sent to the House the Ogilvie administration proposal for a new law enforcement department, including a "Little FBI."

All Democrats abstained in the 37-0 vote, registering opposition to a provision allowing the attorney general to begin prosecutions in counties if he wishes.

Train Bill Backed

SPRINGFIELD—Passage of a bill to enable Chicago to tear down its elevated train system and expand the subway system was recommended yesterday by the House Municipalities Committee. The bill would enable cities, including Chicago, to create special taxing districts to finance mass transportation improvements.

Chicago hopes to tax downtown businesses to raise about one-third of the money needed to replace the famous Loop elevated train tracks with two subway additions.

Transfer Principal

CHICAGO—Norman Silber, the white principal of largely Negro Englewood High School, was transferred to another school yesterday at his own request after an estimated 1,000 students demonstrated, demanding his dismissal. Silber's transfer ended school disturbances which started when he fired George Spencer, a Negro teacher, and then had him arrested when Spencer refused to leave the building.

Pope Hits Toy Guns

VATICAN CITY—Pope Paul VI told an apparently unappreciative audience of European toy manufacturers yesterday that toy weapons are bad for children. The Pope said that some toys "have a great educational importance," but "weapons develop aggressiveness, other toys incite cruelty toward animals, and still others invite dangerous attitudes."

WOODSMAN GEORGE Griffith, is turning a 4-week-old baby fox he captured into a pet. George keeps the fox in his bedroom and by now the little animal is following him and responding to his voice.

Nature Is George's Textbook

by MARY DRESSER

George Griffith, an eighth grader at Holmes Junior High School in Wheeling, should have lived a hundred years ago.

His teacher, Mrs. Mary L. Hall, says George, who is the "kindest child," would have been a hero in an American frontier community because he is a natural woodsman.

Today, George, a quiet boy, spends a lot of time alone, observing animals.

Last Tuesday George brought a 4-week-old toothless baby fox to school and hesitantly explained to his TV-brain-washed classmates what it is like to see nature existing all around them.

HIS CLASSMATES gaped as George handled the baby fox and showed them how the grey, baby-fur, would eventually turn red.

The fox is now so tame the animal followed George around the classroom, responding to his voice.

George knew exactly where to look for a fox den when he went on his expedition to the woods near Wheeling weeks ago.

He found the fox den where he expected it, and took the fox from its growling mother.

The fox mother didn't build a very good den George observes wisely, calling her a "dumb den mother."

George took the baby fox home and is now raising the animal in his bedroom. "I can't let the fox outside," he explains, "because even a very well trained dog would automatically kill a fox."

GEORGE DOESN'T know what he will do with the animal once it is full size. Turning it loose is no solution because by now the fox is so accustomed to people it might be killed while making friendly overtures at some homeowner's back door.

Mrs. Hall is trying to interest George in getting a job with a zoo or a veterinarian this summer because of his remarkable knowledge of animals.

George has suffered in his pursuit of nature lore. Two weeks ago he fell out of a tree while observing baby raccoons and he is still under a doctor's care.

However, last week George was back up in a tree, this time taking movies of a mother fox feeding and caring for her cubs.

George knows where to find the wild animals he loves because nature has been his textbook.

THE SEVEN PASTORS who signed the letter are members of the Wheeling Ministerial Association, but they took the action as individuals and not as members of this organization, according to Rev. Anderson.

Rev. Anderson said other pastors in the area may also sign the letter.

"THE NEW SCHEDULE has the approval of the River Trail's Educational Association," said Helen Sklenkar, RTEA representative at the meeting, "but we have made recommendations for the board to consider next year."

Under the new schedule, a first-year teacher with a bachelor's degree will receive $7,000, an increase of $550 over last year. The maximum salary for teachers with a bachelor's degree is $10,200 with 12 years experience. An additional $250 per year will be paid to teachers with 15 semester hours towards a master's degree.

Starting salary for teachers with a master's degree is $7,600. Maximum salary is $12,150 with 16 years experience.

This maximum figure is greater than the amounts now paid to four of the district's principals whose salaries are based on 10½ months of employment.

While the board was voting on the motion, the Herald "staff" retired to the caucus room. It was later learned, from an informed source, that they discussed the obvious resources of their paper and the flush condition of Paddock's budget.

Jack Kimsey, youth officer with the Wheeling Police Department, won applause when he said, "You (parents) are underestimating your own children."

Speaking in favor of the district's program, Kimsey said terrified students come to him frequently to discuss their sexual problems.

Ministers Back Sex Course

In connection with the sex education controversy in School Dist. 21, seven pastors in the area have composed an open letter to the people of the community. The letter will be presented to the board of education.

The letter is an attempt to minister to the community and encourage people to remain calm and objective on the issue, according to Rev. Dennis Anderson of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Prospect Heights, one of those who signed the letter.

The letter reads as follows: "An open letter to the community of School Dist. 21: 'In the past several weeks, a great deal of attention has been focused upon the 'Pilot Study for Family Living and Sex Education Grades K through four.'

"We the undersigned Christian clergymen of the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove area, having reviewed the curriculum study, endorse the efforts by Dist. 21 to aid in the education of children concerning family living and sex education.

"WE UNDERSTAND that this program should not replace or usurp the role of the home and church in such education, but aids and supplements them through a focus upon the sociological and biological aspects of family life.

"We believe that the church and home are still the prime purveyors of moral and spiritual values of family life and must continue and strengthen this ministry.

"It is our hope that members of the community will maintain Christian perspective, charity and objectivity in the discussion of this and the many other sensitive social issues that confront us in this day."

The letter has been signed by Rev. Anderson, Philip Bender, Philip Burke Jr., George Ekstrom, Noel Clark Holt, Herman C. Noll and Raymond Vadron.

THE SEVEN PASTORS who signed the letter are members of the Wheeling Ministerial Association, but they took the action as individuals and not as members of this organization, according to Rev. Anderson.

Rev. Anderson said other pastors in the area may also sign the letter.

Teacher Pay Gets Boost

The River Trails Dist. 26 school board Tuesday approved a 1968-70 teacher salary schedule giving at least a 10 per cent increase to each teacher.

The schedule was recommended by the board's salary committee chaired by Charles Morey.

"THE NEW SCHEDULE has the approval of the River Trail's Educational Association," said Helen Sklenkar, RTEA representative at the meeting, "but we have made recommendations for the board to consider next year."

The next round in the sex education controversy was scheduled for last night, when the school administration was to give its side of the story at a meeting at Jack London Junior High School.

Meeting Was Well Covered

Recent Paddock Publications expansion has resulted in some coverage problems. Tuesday night two reporters from the Herald showed up to cover a River Trails Dist. 26 meeting. Herald reporter Marsha Hefferan sent in this tongue-in-cheek report.)

Two school board members of Dist. 26 had to be carried home from the Tuesday night meeting. Both collapsed in states of shock when two reporters from the Herald showed up again.

"They tried to pass it off as a mix-up last time," remarked board member

Chuck Morey, obviously moved by the fame that has come so unexpectedly to Dist. 26, "but we aren't buying that story again."

"WIN, BABY," he said turning to Supt. Winston Harwood, "you've put us on a par with Dist. 59. I knew we would find our place in the sun." Too overcome with emotion to continue, Morey bowed his head in silent tribute to the scrappy little guy from southern Illinois.

"I move that we make an exception to the district's policy prohibiting alcoholic beverages on school property," said fun-loving board member Jack Halvorsen, "and I'd like the minutes to show that the Day Publication man is here, too."

"Jack, I'm sure we all know what you mean," remarked board member Hugh Stubbs, "but that is the term we use for our custodians. Perhaps you should be more specific."

While the board was voting on the motion, the Herald "staff" retired to the caucus room. It was later learned, from an informed source, that they discussed the obvious resources of their paper and the flush condition of Paddock's budget.

Plan Annexation Bill Fight

Opposition to House Bill 1241 granting annexation rights to municipalities over 50,000 in population, has taken a new turn. Area residents of unincorporated Prospect Heights are planning to fight the passage of the bill — despite amendments added to the original bill to clarify the future status of unincorporated Prospect Heights.

The bill, introduced into the Illinois House by Rep. Schlickman, R. Dist. 3, seeks to allow municipalities to annex by ordinance contiguous unincorporated areas.

The original furor centered around the status of Prospect Heights, an unincorporated area contiguous to Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and Wheeling.

The Northwest Suburban Council of Associations objected to the original bill, but has accepted the amended version.

HOMEOWNERS' associations, still in opposition claim the new amendments still do not protect unincorporated areas from compulsory annexation.

The Herald talked to an area homeowner, Mrs. William Gardner, asking why she was leading opposition to the bill.

The prime objection, she said, is "there are no provisions for allowing residents in an unincorporated area to vote in a referendum to decide if they wish to be annexed, and, pending annexation proceedings, stop an annexation from taking place."

THE NEW OPPOSITION has rejected the bill, despite the new amendments. It is comprised of associations, primarily from the Prospect Heights area and dissident individuals who felt they could not comply with their association's acceptance of the bill.

The amendments call for notification of residents in an area under consideration for annexation setting a date for annexation proceedings.

All provided in the original bill, is a clause stating annexation proceedings will be heard in the circuit court of the county in which the annexing municipality is located.

Parents Night May 13 At Wheeling Nursery

Parents' night and registration at the Wheeling Nursery School will be Tuesday, May 13 beginning at 8 p.m.

Parents are urged to attend and view their children's works on display," said Mrs. Dorothy Glover, director of the nursery school. "Parents of preschoolers, ages three to five, who wish to enroll their children for the fall term are also invited to come."

The Wheeling Nursery School is located in St. Mark's United Church, 852 Jenkins Ct., Wheeling.

Volunteer Fire Dept. Slates Spring Dance

A Spring Dance, sponsored by the Long Grove Volunteer Fire Department will be held May 17, in the Long Grove Fire Station.

Music will be by the Star Notes. A donation of $1.00 is requested.

Also in the amendments, is a provision to exempt particular areas, such as Prospect Heights from the fear voiced by the NSCA, that areas such as Prospect Heights would have to either incorporate or be dismembered by annexations.

OBJECTION TO the other amendment concerns a passage added to the bill, describing possible reasons for preventing annexation.

Mrs. Gardner said the group's objection to the passage is that it does not provide a means, to stop annexation by residents of the area while it is being heard in the courts.

She said there is an attempt now being made to circulate petitions in the area to be sent to each state senator, with a cover letter delineating the objections of the group.

Mrs. Gardner hopes to create state-wide opposition to the bill.

Schlickman, contacted in Springfield, said that he could not understand Mrs. Caylor's opposition to the bill but intended to get in touch with her when he returned home this weekend.

THE AMENDMENT to the bill is currently being printed. When the amendment returns from the printers it, and the bill, will be presented as a package on the House floor.

Schlickman contends bills such as HB 1241 are needed in Illinois to prevent uncontrolled sprawl in nonincorporated areas.

20 Protest Up-Stream Flooding

More than 20 homeowners living on Jackson Street northwest of Hintz and Schoenbeck roads in unincorporated north Wheeling Township crowded the tiny Wheeling Township hall Tuesday night to protest flooding from Buffalo Grove and Wheeling.

Efforts of area homeowners Wheeling Township Home Commissioner Lawrence Carrozza to build a dam to keep water from the up-stream Cambridge subdivision from flooding downstream homes were recently slapped down in court.

Tuesday night Wheeling township Atty Richard Cowen told homeowners the township was powerless to solve their problems. He advised them to retain an attorney to represent them in court and also to prevent their case to the villages of Wheeling and Buffalo Grove.

It is an ancient law that downstream cannot block the natural flow of water said Cowen.

But is it a natural flow? asked a homeowner. The builders have developed the upstream land and changed it.

A DECISION ON this case could well resolve many legal issues, Cowen said.

The area in question is being flooded by run off from Cambridge. At present suits involving Cambridge developer Richard Brown the villages of Buffalo Grove and Wheeling Carrozza as building commissioner, and homeowner and dam-builder William Frazer are before the Equity Court.

It has been estimated by engineers that it will cost a minimum of $70 thousand to correct the drainage problem.

Brown, who annexed his subdivision to Buffalo Grove while intending to connect the Wheeling sewers had his sewer connection blocked by Wheeling because the village contended this would overload their system.

The Cambridge water is now flooding Jackson Drive and the homeowners have no avenue of complaint except the township.

CARROZZA SAYS he has done all in his power, even involving himself in a lawsuit to help the homeowners.

A recent picture of flooded Jackson Street which appeared in the Herald galvanized the homeowners into action.

The items the court must consider in arriving at a decision on the flooding responsibility are: The natural flow of the storm water, who is changing it, and the effect of the Cambridge subdivision on the drainage onto Jackson Street.

Homeowners attending the session contend Buffalo Grove had the greatest responsibility for the flooding because Brown's Cambridge subdivision on the Buffalo Grove.

"It's not running uphill. It comes from Buffalo Grove," one homeowner said.

They contend this situation did not exist until the Cambridge subdivision was built.

A MEETING OF homeowners on Jackson Street has been called by Charles Hunze, 2919 N Jackson, for this Monday night.

Hunze hopes to unite homeowners in a cooperative assault against the villages, and Brown.

Con-Con Definite

Hopefuls for delegate to the Illinois Constitutional Convention can start picking up those 1,000 signatures on petitions of candidacy.

Gov Richard B Ogilvie Wednesday signed the bill calling for a Constitutional Convention the first in almost 50 years. Con-Con is to convene at noon Dec 8 in House chambers in Springfield.

The opening date will be the 100th anniversary of the convention which drafted the state's present 1870 constitution.

Ogilvie's approval formally sets in motion the election processes that will send to Con-Con two delegates from each state Senate district.

NOMINATING petitions carrying 1,000 signatures must be filed with the secretary of state between July 7 and July 11.

A primary election will be held Sept 23 to reduce candidates to four. A run-off of the top four vote getters per district will be Nov 18. The new law provides for a nonpartisan election meaning no party designation will appear on ballots.

If no more than four candidates file for the primary in any district they will wait for the general election. However, it is not likely the Third and 37th Senate districts will produce this minimal number.

Delegates will be paid $625 per month for up to six months and $100 a day for up to 75 days for each day they are in attendance at the convention or its committees. Expenses will be paid.

THE LAW SIGNED by the governor allows elected public officials to serve as delegates. They cannot draw pay but will be allowed expenses.

This clause once considered controversial is expected to be given a court test since the constitution forbids delegates from holding any other lucrative public office.

It is estimated that the state will spend $25 million for each of the two elections and about $3 million for the convention itself.

Unusual offer.

Fortas Impeachment?

WASHINGTON—Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., R-Ohio, predicted Wednesday that an impeachment bill will be filed against Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas unless there is further explanation of a fee he accepted from financier Louis Wolfson, who has since gone to jail for stock market law violations.

Fortas said he took a fee, but later returned it when he discovered he would not be able to advise and write for Wolfson's family foundation. Taft said that unless Fortas explains further, "impeachment is a good possibility."

Gas Plan Probe Asked

WASHINGTON—An investigation into a Pentagon plan to dispose of World War II stocks of poison gas in the Atlantic Ocean was asked yesterday by Rep. Richard McCarthy, D-N.Y.

McCarthy questioned whether rail shipments of the gas to the East Coast posed a public danger and whether dumping the gas in the ocean endangered marine life. The Transportation Department confirmed that the gas is to be shipped May 16.

$520 Aid Level Asked

SPRINGFIELD—Governor Ogilvie yesterday asked the legislature to raise the basic school foundation level to $520 per pupil — $20 more than he requested in his budget.

The additional $20 will not increase Ogilvie's recommended $850 million in state aid, but would come from greater-than-expected property tax collections.

Employees Union OK'd

SPRINGFIELD—A bill to allow public employees to organize, but not to strike, was passed and sent to the House yesterday by the state Senate. The collective bargaining bill creates a state public employees' labor relations board to mediate disputes between unions and employers.

The employer is required to seek an injunction in the event of a strike.

'Little FBI' Passed

SPRINGFIELD—The Senate Wednesday passed and sent to the House the Ogilvie administration proposal for a new law enforcement department, including a "little FBI."

All Democrats abstained in the 37-0 vote, registering opposition to a provision allowing the attorney general to begin prosecutions in counties if he wishes.

Train Bill Backed

SPRINGFIELD—Passage of a bill to enable Chicago to tear down its elevated train system and expand the subway system was recommended yesterday by the House Municipalities Committee. The bill would enable cities, including Chicago, to create special taxing districts to finance mass transportation improvements.

Chicago hopes to lay downtown businesses to raise about one-third of the money needed to replace the famous Loop elevated train tracks with two subway additions.

Transfer Principal

CHICAGO—Norman Silber, the white principal of largely Negro Englewood High School was transferred to another school yesterday at his own request after an estimated 1,000 students demonstrated, demanding his dismissal. Silber's transfer ended school disturbances which started when he fired George Spencer, a Negro teacher, and then had him arrested when Spencer refused to leave the building.

Pope Hits Toy Guns

VATICAN CITY—Pope Paul VI told an apparently unappreciative audience of European toy manufacturers yesterday that toy weapons are bad for children. The Pope said that some toys "have a great educational importance," but "weapons develop aggressiveness, other toys incite cruelty toward animals, and still others invite dangerous attitudes."

WOODSMAN GEORGE Griffith, is in his bedroom and by now the little animal is following him and responding to his voice.

Nature Is George's Textbook

by MARY DRESSER

George Griffith, an eighth grader at Holmes Junior High School in Wheeling, should have lived a hundred years ago.

His teacher, Mrs. Mary L. Hall, says George, who is the "kindest child," would have been a hero in an American frontier community because he is a natural woodsman.

Today, George, a quiet boy, spends a lot of time alone, observing animals.

Last Tuesday George brought a 4-week-old toothless baby fox to school and hesitantly explained to his TV-brain-washed classmates what it is like to see nature existing all around them.

HIS CLASSMATES gaped as George handed the baby fox and showed them how the grey, baby-fur, would eventually turn red.

The fox is now so tame the animal followed George around the classroom, responding to his voice.

George knew exactly where to look for a fox den when he went on his expedition to the woods near Wheeling weeks ago.

He found the fox den where he expected it, and took the fox from its growling mother.

The fox mother didn't build a very good den George observes wisely, calling her a "dumb den mother."

George took the baby fox home and is now raising the animal in his bedroom.

"I can't let the fox outside," he explains, "because even a very well trained dog would automatically kill a fox."

GEORGE DOESN'T know what he will do with the animal once it is full size. Turning it loose is no solution because by now the fox is so accustomed to people it might be killed while making friendly overtures at some homeowner's back door.

Mrs. Hall is trying to interest George in getting a job with a zoo or a veterinarian this summer because of his remarkable

Grape Boycott Rally To Be Saturday

A rally will be held in Arlington Heights Saturday as part of nationwide activities for International Grape Boycott Day.

The rally will be held at St. James Elementary School, North State Road, beginning at 1 p.m.

Featured speakers will be Mrs. Eugenia Chapman, representative to the Illinois House, and the Rev. Robert Kolsey, a field worker for the National Council of Churches. Local citizens are expected to return to their communities afterward and express their support of the grape boycott to store managers.

The boycott, now in its second year, grew out of a four-year strike of the Delano, Calif., grape pickers.

THE PICKERS HAVE sought to meet with growers in order to obtain collective bargaining privileges through the United Farm Workers Union. The strike has become a bitter one with accusations on both sides of coercion and violence.

A nationwide grape boycott was implemented by Caesar Chavez, head of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, in 1967. Major chain stores, including A & P, Jewel, National Tea and knowledge of animals.

George has suffered in his pursuit of nature lore. Two weeks ago he fell out of a tree while observing baby raccoons and he is still under a doctor's care.

However, last week George was back up

Meeting Was Well Covered

Hi-Low pledged last year not to carry grapes, but community support is needed if they are to continue their policy, according to the rally organizers.

"The Proclamation of the Delano Grape Workers," to be read at the Saturday rally, states the position of the Farm Workers:

Recent Paddock Publications expansion has resulted in some coverage problems. Tuesday night two reporters from the Herald showed up to cover a River Trails Dist. 26 meeting. Herald reporter Marsha Hefferan sent in this tongue-in-cheek report.)

Two school board members of Dist. 26 had to be carried home from the Tuesday night meeting. Both collapsed in states of shock when two reporters from the Herald showed up again.

"They tried to pass it off as a mix-up last time," remarked board member

Chuck Morey, obviously moved by the fame that has come so unexpectedly to Dist. 26, "but we aren't buying that story again."

"WIN, BABY," he said turning to Supt. Winston Harwood, "you've put us on a par with Dist. 59. I knew we would find our place in the sun." Too overcome with emotion to continue, Morey bowed his head in silent tribute to the scrappy little guy from southern Illinois.

"I move that we make an exception to the district's policy prohibiting alcoholic beverages on school property," said fun-

pear on the program because, "We wanted to give our own presentation."

The CPC says the sex education program is being conducted without the approval of the parents or the school board, and that the program has moral implications and that some of the material is being introduced to the children before they are emotionally mature enough to cope with it.

Hopkins specifically objected to one of the films, "Boy to Man," because it states that masturbation will not cause mental illness and is not physically harmful to the individual.

"ALTHOUGH PARTS OF this film are good, it definitely has moral implications. The district seems to be going in for pseudo-religion," Hopkins said.

Hopkins admitted he hadn't screened several of the five films shown at the meeting but said he was objecting to them on the basis of reference material he had examined and "the objections of other people."

Mrs. Gloria Pfister, director of publicity for the CPC, said an examination of the minutes of Dist. 21 Board of Education meetings revealed that no written approval was given by the board for implementing the sex education program.

She also said the book, "A Baby Is Born," is recommended reading for children in grades two, three and four in the district and is on the library shelf at Louisa Alcott School. "This same book is on the restricted shelf at the Arlington Heights Library," she claimed.

A check by The Herald revealed that the book is on the closed shelf in the children's section of the Arlington Heights Library and may be taken out by adults.

THROUGHOUT THE two-hour meeting, individuals in the audience shouted comments and some took the floor to give their own opinions.

Jack Kimsey, youth officer with the Wheeling Police Department, won applause when he said, "You (parents) are underestimating your own children."

Speaking in favor of the district's program, Kimsey said terrified students come to him frequently to discuss their sexual problems.

"It is a sad commentary that the children of today are so ill-informed," Kimsey said.

Hopkins replied, "Then there must be something wrong with the way the schools are teaching about sex."

The next round in the sex education controversy was scheduled for last night, when the school administration was to give its side of the story at a meeting at Jack London Junior High School.

Ministers Back Sex Course

In connection with the sex education controversy in School Dist. 21, seven pastors in the area have composed an open letter to the people of the community. The letter will be presented to the board of education.

The letter is an attempt to minister to the community and encourage people to remain calm and objective on the issue, according to Rev. Dennis Anderson of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Prospect Heights, one of those who signed the letter.

The letter reads as follows: "An open letter to the community of School Dist. 21: 'In the past several weeks, a great deal of attention has been focused upon the 'Pilot Study for Family Living and Sex Education Grades K through four.'"

"We the undersigned Christian clergymen of the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove area, having reviewed the curriculum study, endorse the efforts by Dist. 21 to aid in the education of children concerning family living and sex education."

"WE UNDERSTAND that this program should not replace or usurp the role of the home and church in such education, but aids and supplements them through a focus upon the sociological and biological aspects of family life."

"We believe that the church and home are still the prime purveyors of moral and spiritual values of family life and must continue and strengthen this ministry."

"It is our hope that members of the community will maintain Christian perspective, charity and objectivity in the discussion of this and the many other sensitive social issues that confront us in this day."

The letter has been signed by Rev. Anderson, Philip Bender, Philip Burke Jr., George Ekstrom, Noel Clark Holt, Herman C. Noll and Raymond Yadron.

THE SEVEN PASTORS who signed the letter are members of the Wheeling Ministerial Association, but they took the action as individuals and not as members of this organization, according to Rev. Anderson.

Rev. Anderson said other pastors in the area may also sign the letter.

Teacher Pay Gets Boost

The River Trails Dist. 26 school board Tuesday approved a 1969-70 teacher salary schedule giving at least a 10 per cent increase to each teacher.

The schedule was recommended by the board's salary committee chaired by Charles Morey.

"THE NEW SCHEDULE has the approval of the River Trail's Educational Association," said Helen Sklenkar, RTEA representative at the meeting, "but we have made recommendations for the board to consider next year."

Under the new schedule, a first-year teacher with a bachelor's degree will receive $7,000, an increase of $550 over last year. The maximum salary for teachers with a bachelor's degree is $10,200 with 12 years experience. An additional $250 per year will be paid to teachers with 15 semester hours towards a master's degree.

Starting salary for teachers with a master's degree is $7,600; maximum salary is $12,150 with 16 years experience.

This maximum figure is greater than the amounts now paid to four of the district's principals whose salaries are based on 10½ months of employment.

oppression, the violence subhuman toil does to the human body."

The local rally and confrontation is one of 20 such activities to be held in Chicago and suburban neighborhoods Saturday. It will be part of a coordinated effort to demonstrate consumer support of the United Farm Workers and their boycott.

"Jack, I'm sure we all know what you mean," remarked board member Hugh Stubbins, "but that is the term we use for our custodians. Perhaps you should be more specific."

While the board was voting on the motion, the Herald "staff" retired to the caucus room. It was latter learned, from an informed source, that they discussed the obvious resources of their paper and the flush condition of Paddock's budget.

Fortas Impeachment?

WASHINGTON—Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., R-Ohio, predicted Wednesday that an impeachment bill will be filed against Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas unless there is further explanation of a fee he accepted from financier Louis Wolfson, who has since gone to jail for stock market law violations.

Fortas said he took a fee, but later returned it when he discovered he would not be able to advise and write for Wolfson's family foundation. Taft said that unless Fortas explains further, "impeachment is a good possibility."

Parents and educators in School Dist. 21 erupted Tuesday night at a meeting called to discuss the district's sex education program.

Discussion was so heated that the meeting threatened to become a riot at several points.

The meeting at the Joyce Kilmer School in Buffalo Grove was conducted by the Concerned Parents Committee (CPC), a group of parents organized last month to investigate the method of teaching sex and family living in the district schools.

Robert Hopkins, president of the CPC, told a noisy, standing-room-only crowd that the CPC had intended the meeting to be "informative only."

"OUR ORGANIZATION has no political motivation and we have no personal vendetta against the school system. We are not seeking to create controversy. We only want to give the people the chance to discuss this program," Hopkins said.

The group borrowed five films and slides used in district sex education courses to be shown following the formal presentation.

Shouts of "What are you afraid of?" and "Let us form our own opinions" interrupted Hopkins' announcement that School Supt. Kenneth Gill wasn't allowed to appear on the program because, "We wanted to give our own presentation."

The CPC says the sex education program is being conducted without the approval of the parents or the school board, that the program has moral implications and that some of the material is being introduced to the children before they are emotionally mature enough to cope with it.

Lights Project Begins

"A PLACE IN THE SUN" at Bethel Lutheran Church near Rolling Meadows in Palatine Township Tuesday evening featured young Cadette Scout from Troop 612 modeling youthful and spring fashions.

Gunnar's Back in Business

It's been 13 months and three days, but Palatine has a Hansen Hardware Store again.

The new store which opened its doors last weekend is at the same spot on Broadway Street where fire totally destroyed the old building April 1, 1968.

"It's wonderful to be open again," said owner Gunnar Hansen.

"But it took too long."

A neighboring place of business, the Palatine Savings and Loan, added to Hansen's happiness by prominently displaying a sign in the window announcing, "Welcome back, Gunnar."

"I COULDN'T BELIEVE it when I saw that sign. We didn't know ourselves until Friday night we were ready to open on Saturday," Ahusen said.

Not all the merchandise has arrived yet, but a stroll through the store doesn't reveal many vacant spots.

There's twice as much selling space in the new store, with everything but hardware items located on the first floor. The basement area allows for a larger display of hardware merchandise.

The Little Mermaid Gift Shop, currently located on Northwest Highway, will occupy a spot in the store too.

"We'll be the only hardware store in the area with a complete selection of bath accessories," said Conrad Hansen.

ANOTHER NEW FEATURE of the store is a larger selection of paints. In the old store, only ready mix paint was sold, but now paints will be made to order.

When last year's fire struck, Hansen was about to celebrate his 10th anniversary in business in Palatine. He was hoping to open again by the first of the year, but several technicalities involving the local zoning ordinance delayed construction.

Friends of Library Will Meet Monday

Palatine's Friends of the Library will hold their annual meeting next Monday at 8 p.m. in the Palatine Public Library.

On the agenda for the meeting is installation of officers for the 1969-70 year. They are Mrs. James Deuel, president; Mrs. Stephen Atkinson, vice president; Mrs. James Mallory, secretary, and Mrs. C. O. Dillie, treasurer. Directors are Mrs. H. E. Wood, Mrs. Walter Frank, III, and Mrs. E. R. Miller.

New gas lights in Palatine's downtown area will be up before the summer ends.

Implementation of the street light project which was proposed about eight months ago will begin immediately, according to Trustee Clayton Brown.

With 25 per cent of the money for gas lights coming from village funds and the rest from downtown property owners, the project could not begin until a large share of the money was collected.

"WE NOW HAVE reached the point where 93 per cent of all the money is in and we're ready to go ahead," Brown said.

"There are a couple of property owners who won't have gas lights in front of their businesses because they refused to contribute, but they represent a small part of the total project," he added.

The gas light project will bring new and uniform lighting to the village's business district, including Broadway, Rothwell, Slade and Wilson streets and Palatine Road.

Five gas lights will be put on each side of every block downtown. The gas company has agreed to do most of the work and assume responsibility for maintenance once lights are installed.

SINCE GAS MAINS already exist in the downtown area the major part of the project involves putting up the lamp posts.

Total cost of the project is estimated between $35,000 and $38,000. Property owners were asked to contribute a cash donation at a rate based on the amount of front footage property.

Village officials decided against an alternate method of financing through special assessment since it was expected to double the cost.

DURING STUDY OF downtown street lighting by a special committee headed by Brown, mercury vapor lights were considered, but estimated to cost almost $200,000.

Sample gas lamp posts have been located in front of the village hall for more than a year. The post north of the building and closest to the parking lot is the type to be used throughout the downtown area.

Park Dissolution

Yesterday's Circuit Court hearing on dissolution of the Palatine Rural Park District has been continued until July 16.

Granting a request from Roger Bjorvik, attorney for more than 100 homeowners in Rolling Meadows and Palatine who petitioned to dissolve the district, Judge Harry Comerford postponed the hearing.

Petitions only to disannex several subdivisions within the boundaries of both municipalities from the rural park district reportedly were presented to the board Monday night.

"The homeowners have decided to see what kind of action is taken regarding those requests before they continue dissolution proceedings," Bjorvik said.

High-Speed Chase Ends In Arrest

A Palatine man lead police on a high-speed chase early Tuesday at more than 95 miles per hour for eight miles before being captured after a foot race on a Barrington side street.

Palatine police said Officer Stanley Korbal stopped the car driven by Leonard Boward, 39, 172 W. Bryant, because the driver was speeding. When Korbal got out of the car to write the ticket, Boward drove away, police said.

Boward was charged with driving on a revoked license, running a stop sign, attempting to flee an officer, speeding, reckless driving and attempting to ram a squad car. He is scheduled to appear in Arlington Heights court May 16.

KORBAL SAID HE was traveling eastbound on Cofax in Palatine when he saw Boward's car speeding west. The officer said he stopped Boward's auto at Plum Grove Road but that when he got out of his car, Boward pulled away.

During the chase, said Robert Centner, Palatine Police chief, Boward pulled into Eastern Avenue in Barrington, a dead end street.

Boward then turned his car around, said Centner, and went straight towards Korbal's squad car. Korbal moved his car out of the way while another squad car, driven by officer Robert Vallas, blocked the roadway.

Centner said Boward got out of his car and attempted to escape on foot but was tackled by the two officers and handcuffed.

ACTION TO dissolve the district primarily was started because homeowners within its boundaries were interested in joining either the Palatine or Rolling Meadows Park Districts.

Before that can happen official disannexation from the Palatine Rural Park District must be accomplished.

The group is charging the Palatine Rural Park District Board of Commissioners with several violations of Illinois Statute including failure to hold regular public meetings, failure to acquire and maintain land and facilities for park purposes and failure to pass an annual appropriation or finance.

However, Francis Kelly, attorney for the rural park district said he was ready to disprove all the allegations at yesterday's hearing.

"I WAS THERE with witnesses and 20 years of board minutes which would prove the charges are false," he said.

About the appropriation ordinances he said, "I also have our legal appropriation notices which have been printed in Pad dock Publications newspapers for the past 20 years."

He added, "We won't be dissolved in any case."

In addition to serving as attorney, Kelly was instrumental in forming the rural park district almost 20 years ago. In his opinion, the district has performed all the functions intended when it was found as a protective park district in 1950.

Two Youths Charged With Theft of Cars

Two 15-year-old high school students were arrested Wednesday by Palatine police and charged with auto theft after the youths allegedly took part in a drag racing exhibition.

Robert Centner, Palatine Police chief said witnesses told police the two boys were allegedly drag racing on Quentin and Roselle roads near Palatine Road about 3:30 p.m.

When police arrived at the scene, the youths had already abandoned the autos and fled, Centner said. Police picked up the youths later after getting a description of the two from the residents in the area.

Centner said one auto was stolen Tuesday in the 200 block of North Northwest Highway while the other was taken from in front of 117 E. Palatine Road about half an hour before the drag racing was reported.

He said one of the youths attends Fremd High School while the other is a student at Palatine High School.

Pre-School Plans Slated

Parents may register their pre-school children in the Palatine Park District's state-licensed summer program at 1 p.m. Monday, May 19, at the Community Park administration building.

The Maple Park recreation building will offer the pre-schooler creative dramatics Monday, creative music Tuesday, creative arts Wednesday and creative playtime Thursday and Friday.

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley has proclaimed May 4 through May 11 as the "Week of the Young Child." In this connection, the Palatine Park District is trying to meet the needs of the young child.

A QUALITY PROGRAM is assured by having the pre-school program state-licensed.

Parent and child are protected in several ways:

—Equipment is especially designed for the pre-schooler.

—A physical exam for each child is on file.

—The number of students per class is controlled.

—Qualified instructors are hired.

—The program is designed to stimulate the growth of the pre-schooler according to his abilities.

Assistance and supervision are given from the state when needed.

Parents also may enroll their children in the fall pre-school program with a $10 deposit.

May Pick Up Transit Idea

The Council of Governments of Cook County (COG) may pick up Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's idea of tying suburban bus service into the Chicago Transit Authority (CTA).

COG Chairman Jack Pahl, Elk Grove Village president, said he also hopes to pick up Chicago membership in the voluntary association of governments.

Pahl said he discussed the combined bus-mass transit plan with Daley early this week. The local mayor said he will set up a meeting with Daley to talk further on the idea of COG assuming the transportation project.

"THIS IS WHAT the council is for, to further intergovernmental cooperation," Pahl said.

Daley's proposal made Monday is to set up a unified metropolitan transit system incorporating suburban bus lines with the CTA.

In the Northwest suburbs, this would tie the United Motor Coach of Des Plaines to the CTA extension in the Kennedy Expressway. An official of United Motor Coach was quoted Monday saying he would be interested in discussing the concept.

Pahl said Daley's proposal involves nine bus companies in the entire county.

Recapping his conversation with Daley, Pahl said they talked about combining bus companies and tying these in with the CTA to provide better transportation service to both city and suburbs.

THE CTA IS extending down both the Kennedy and Dan Ryan expressways and is seeking the legislature's help in finances. Bills pending in the legislature would allow Cook County to levy a 2-cent gasoline tax to finance its mass transit system.

Suburban bus companies are also expressing concern over lack of revenues and United Motor Coach officials recently mentioned dropping some bus service.

Pahl said COG is particularly suited to bring the transportation plan together as an association of governments representing all areas of Cook County. He cited four existing transportation studies going on from all sides of Cook County and a new one in DuPage County.

The Northwest Municipal Conference recently authorized a mass transit study for its 13 member area communities.

Pahl said the north suburbs have a transportation study group and a transportation committee was recently appointed in the DuPage Mayors and Managers Association, headed by Itasca Pres. Will Notke.

The south suburbs have a program to issue bonds to buy coaches, then lease them to the Illinois Central Railroad, he said.

Pahl said the council project will be "a very logical tie-in to the Northwest Municipal Conference study."

COG does not have a transportation division as this function had been left up to the Chicago Area Transportation Study (CATS) and Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPCC), Pahl said.

"BUT THERE IS no reason why we can't do this to give the best possible service to the citizens."

Since its beginning in late 1967, COG has hoped to attract Chicago as a council member. Pahl said transportation could be the attraction to join since Chicago is concerned with this and the council could be of help.

Con-Con Definite

Hopefuls for delegate to the Illinois Constitutional Convention can start picking up those 1,000 signatures on petitions of candidacy.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie Wednesday signed the bill calling for a Constitutional Convention, the first in almost 50 years. Con-Con is to convene at noon Dec. 8 in House chambers in Springfield.

The opening date will be the 100th anniversary of the convention which drafted the state's present 1870 constitution.

Ogilvie's approval formally sets in motion the election processes that will send to Con-Con two delegates from each state Senate district.

NOMINATING petitions carrying 1,000 signatures must be filed with the secretary of state between July 7 and July 11.

A primary election will be held Sept. 23 to reduce candidates to four. A run-off of the top four vote getters per district will be Nov. 18. The new law provides for a nonpartisan election, meaning no party designation will appear on ballots.

If no more than four candidates file for the primary in any district, they will wait for the general election. However, it is not likely the Third and 37th Senate districts will produce this minimal number.

Delegates will be paid $625 per month for up to six months, and $100 a day for up to 75 days for each day they are in attendance at the convention or its committees. Expenses will be paid.

THE LAW SIGNED by the governor allows elected public officials to serve as delegates. They cannot draw pay, but will be allowed expenses.

This clause, once considered controversial, is expected to be given a court test since the constitution forbids delegates from holding any other "lucrative"

public office.

It is estimated that the state will spend $2.5 million for each of the two elections and about $3 million for the convention itself.

Unusual offer.

Fortas Impeachment?

WASHINGTON—Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., R-Ohio, predicted Wednesday that an impeachment bill will be filed against Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas unless there is further explanation of a fee he accepted from financier Louis Wolfson, who has since gone to jail for stock market law violations.

Fortas said he took a fee, but later returned it when he discovered he would not be able to advise and write for Wolfson's family foundation. Taft said that unless Fortas explains further, "impeachment is a good possibility."

Gas Plan Probe Asked

WASHINGTON—An investigation into a Pentagon plan to dispose of World War II stocks of poison gas in the Atlantic Ocean was asked yesterday by Rep. Richard McCarthy, D-N.Y.

McCarthy questioned whether rail shipments of the gas to the East Coast posed a public danger and whether dumping the gas in the ocean endangered marine life. The Transportation Department confirmed that the gas is to be shipped May 16.

$520 Aid Level Asked

SPRINGFIELD—Governor Ogilvie yesterday asked the legislature to raise the basic school foundation level to $520 per pupil — $20 more than he requested in his budget.

The additional $20 will not increase Ogilvie's recommended $850 million in state aid, but would come from greater-than-expected property tax collections.

Employees Union OK'd

SPRINGFIELD—A bill to allow public employees to organize, but not to strike, was passed and sent to the House yesterday by the state Senate. The collective bargaining bill creates a state public employees' labor relations board to mediate disputes between unions and employers.

Train Bill Backed

SPRINGFIELD—Passage of a bill to enable Chicago to tear down its elevated train system and expand the subway system was recommended yesterday by the House Municipalities Committee. Thieves Get $500 From Vending Car

Vandals Tuesday night broke into the car of a vending machine company employee and stole between $500 and $600 worth of coins, mostly pennies.

Samuel Wisne, 50, of Skokie, an employee for the Carousal Industries, Chicago, told Rolling Meadows police he left the money in the front seat of the auto when he entered Dominick's food store, 3131 Kirchoff.

WISNE SAID HE left the money in white cloth sacks on the front seat and locked his doors, but when he returned he discovered the left front side vent latch was broken and the money taken from the car.

A youth at the scene told police he saw a group of teenagers looking into the auto but did not see anyone break in.

Police said the vandals may have used a screwdriver to gain entry.

Featured speakers will be Mrs. Eugenia Chapman, representative to the Illinois House, and the Rev. Robert Kelsey, a field worker for the National Council of Churches. Local citizens are expected to return to their communities afterward and express their support of the grape boycott to store managers.

The boycott, now in its second year, grew out of a four-year strike of the Delano, Calif., grape pickers.

THE PICKERS HAVE sought to meet with growers in order to obtain collective bargaining privileges through the United Farm Workers Union. The strike has become a bitter one with accusations on both sides of coercion and violence.

A nationwide grape boycott was implemented by Caesar Chavez, head of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, in 1967. Major chain stores, including A & P, Jewel, National Tea and Hi-Low pledged last year not to carry grapes, but community support is needed if they are to continue their policy, according to the rally organizers.

"The Proclamation of the Delano Grape Workers," to be read at the Saturday rally, states the position of the Farm Workers.

"WE HAVE BEEN farm workers for hundreds of years, boycotters for two. We did not choose the grape boycott, but we have chosen to leave our peonage, poverty and despair behind. We mean to have our peace, and to win it without violence, for it is violence that we would overcome —

Pre-School Plans Slated

Parents may register their pre-school children in the Palatine Park District's state-licensed summer program at 1 p.m. Monday, May 19, at the Community Park administration building.

The Maple Park recreation building will offer the pre-schooler creative dramatics Monday, creative music Tuesday, creative arts Wednesday and creative playtime Thursday and Friday.

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley has proclaimed May 4 through May 11 as the "Week of the Young Child." In this connection, the Palatine Park District is trying to meet the needs of the young child.

A QUALITY PROGRAM is assured by having the pre-school program state-licensed. Parent and child are protected in several ways:

- Equipment is especially designed for the pre-schooler.
- A physical exam for each child is on file.
- The number of students per class is controlled.
- Qualified instructors are hired.

Yesterday's Circuit Court hearing on dissolution of the Palatine Rural Park District has been continued until July 16.

Granting a request from Roger Bjorvik, attorney for more than 100 homeowners in Rolling Meadows and Palatine who petitioned to dissolve the district, Judge Harry Comerford postponed the hearing.

Petitions only to disannex several subdivisions within the boundaries of both municipalities from the rural park district reportedly were presented to the board Monday night.

"The homeowners have decided to see what kind of action is taken regarding those requests before they continue dissolution proceedings," Bjorvik said.

ACTION TO dissolve the district primarily was started because homeowners within its boundaries were interested in joining either the Palatine or Rolling Meadows Park Districts.

Before that can happen, official disannexation from the Palatine Rural Park District must be accomplished.

The group is charging the Palatine Rural Park District Board of Commissioners with several violations of Illinois Statute including failure to hold regular public meetings, failure to acquire and maintain land and facilities for park purposes and failure to pass an annual appropriation ordinance.

However, Francis Kelly, attorney for the rural park district said he was ready to disprove all the allegation at yesterday's hearing.

"I WAS THERE with witnesses and 20 years of board minutes which would prove the charges are false," he said.

About the appropriation ordinances, he said, "I also have our legal appropriation notices which have been printed in Paddock Publications newspapers for the past 20 years."

He added, "We won't be dissolved in any case."

In addition to serving as attorney, Kelly was instrumental in forming the rural park district almost 20 years ago. In his opinion, the district has performed all the functions intended when it was found as a protective park district in 1950.

See More Students

Nonfiction adult book circulation was up in April at the Rolling Meadows Library, an indication that more high school students were using the library, Virginia Connell, librarian, said at a board meeting Tuesday.

"Lack of space in the library's old location kept many of the students away, but the trend is now changing," she said.

In other business, board members were told that the library is in need of a copy machine. Now in use is a self-sustaining coin-operated copier, and it is not meeting public demand, Miss Connell said.

The library board suggested that sales representatives from copy machine manufacturers be invited to attend future board meetings.

There are 500 overdue and 800 missing books from the library, and the board is studying ways to tighten the existing checkout system.

Miss Connell said another three years will be needed for the library to get good backlog of books.

To meet the demand for best-sellers and other frequently requested books, the library board is looking into the possibility of using the McNaughton Lend-Lease Book Plan. The plan was used by Miss Connell at her previous post and she said it was very satisfactory.

High-Speed Chase Ends In Arrest

A Palatine man lead police on a high-speed chase early Tuesday at more than 95 miles per hour for eight miles before being captured after a foot race on a Barrington side street.

Palatine police said Officer Stanley Korbal stopped the car driven by Leonard Boward, 39, 172 W. Bryant, because the driver was speeding. When Korbal got out of the car to write the ticket, Boward drove away, police said.

Boward was charged with driving on a revoked license, running a stop sign, attempting to flee an officer, speeding, reckless driving and attempting to ram a squad car. He is scheduled to appear in Arlington Heights court May 16.

KORBAL SAID HE was traveling eastbound on Colfax in Palatine when he saw Boward's car speeding west. The officer said he stopped Boward's auto at Plum Grove Road but that when he got out of his car, Boward pulled away.

During the chase, said Robert Centner, Palatine Police chief, Boward pulled into Eastern Avenue in Barrington, a dead end street.

Boward then turned his car around, said Centner, and went straight towards Korbal's squad car. Korbal moved his car out of the way while another squad car, driven by officer Robert Vallas, blocked the roadway.

Centner said Boward got out of his car and attempted to escape on foot but was tackled by the two officers and handcuffed.

Two Youths Charged With Theft of Cars

Two 15-year-old high school students were arrested Wednesday by Palatine police and charged with auto theft after the youths allegedly took part in a drag racing exhibition.

Robert Centner, Palatine Police chief, said witnesses told police the two boys were allegedly drag racing on Quentin and Roselle roads near Palatine Road about 3:30 p.m.

When police arrived at the scene, the youths had already abandoned the autos and fled, Centner said. Police picked up the youths later after getting a description of the two from the residents in the area. Centner said one auto was stolen Tuesday in the 200 block of North Northwest Highway while the other was taken from in front of 117 E. Palatine Road about half an hour before the drag racing was reported.

He said one of the youths attends Fremd High School while the other is a student at Palatine High School.

Fortas Impeachment?

WASHINGTON—Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., R-Ohio, predicted Wednesday that an impeachment bill will be filed against Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas unless there is further explanation of a fee he accepted from financier Louis Wolfson, who has since gone to jail for stock market law violations.

Fortas said he took a fee, but later returned it when he discovered he would not be able to advise and write for Wolfson's family foundation. Taft said that unless Fortas explains further, "impeachment is a good possibility."

Gas Plan Probe Asked

WASHINGTON—An investigation into a Pentagon plan to dispose of World War II stocks of poison gas in the Atlantic Ocean was asked yesterday by Rep. Richard McCarthy, D-N.Y.

McCarthy questioned whether rail shipments of the gas to the East Coast posed a public danger and whether dumping the gas in the ocean endangered marine life. The Transportation Department confirmed that the gas is to be shipped May 16.

$520 Aid Level Asked

SPRINGFIELD—Governor Ogilvie yesterday asked the legislature to raise the basic school foundation level to $520 per pupil — $20 more than he requested in his budget.

The additional $20 will not increase Ogilvie's recommended $350 million in state aid, but would come from greater-than-expected property tax collections.

SPRINGFIELD—A bill to allow public employees to organize, but not to strike, was passed and sent to the House yesterday by the state Senate. The collective bargaining bill creates a state public employees' labor relations board to mediate disputes between unions and employers.

The employer is required to seek an injunction in the event of a strike.

All Democrats abstained in the 37-0 vote, registering opposition to a provision allowing the attorney general to begin prosecutions in counties if he wishes.

Will Village Acquire Central?

Reaction to Mayor Teichert's announcement that the village should be interested in acquiring Dist. 57's Central School was surprise mixed with confusion.

Members of the Dist. 57 school board contacted by the Herald said they had no foreknowledge of Teichert's announcement.

Mrs. Pat Kimball said of the property, "I think it would be of more benefit on the tax roles of the community and it would be a help to the central business district."

to bring more shoppers into the area if it were privately developed.

"I think apartments would be ideal, although this is not in the present zoning. It certainly would be handy for older residents to be near all the conveniences (of the village)."

HARRY HANSEN, president of the Dist. 57 board said, "Our primary concern is that (the property) serves a good use for the village and that we get the money we need from the sale."

Fence Law Hinges

The Mount Prospect fence ordinance is on the fence.

The ordinance, which was reviewed last month by the building committee, was sent back to committee for more review because some board members thought it still would create too much hardship and confusion to property owners.

As it stands today, the ordinance requires home owners to enclose swimming pools in their backyards with a 54-inch fence. Fences around the perimeter of the lot, however, must conform to a 42-inch standard.

Home owners who have a 42-inch fence around their yards and buy a swimming pool have to increase the fence height to 54 inches. And a fence variation has to be sought to do it.

GEORGE REITER thought this is too much of a hardship.

The building committee had recommended no change on the ordinance.

Other board members thought the 42-inch rule for yard fences was too low.

Trustee Donald Furst said many of these fences are nothing more than glorified dog pens and that a fence 42 inches high wasn't enough to contain some larger dogs.

"I have a German shepherd, but I don't have a fence. I walk the dog because I enjoy him. But some people want the fence to do the job they are too lazy to do, and for them the fence should be higher," he said.

MAYOR ROBERT TEICHERT said two levels of fence in a yard would create a "dog track."

"A 42-inch fence on the outside and a 54-inch fence on the inside would be undesirable," he explained.

Opposition to House Bill 1241 granting annexation rights to municipalities over 50,000 in population, has taken a new turn.

Area residents of unincorporated Prospect Heights are planning to fight the passage of the bill — despite amendments added to the original bill to clarify the future status of unincorporated Prospect Heights.

The bill, introduced into the Illinois House by Rep. Schlickman, R. Dist. 3, seeks to allow municipalities to annex by ordinance contiguous unincorporated areas.

The original furor centered around the status of Prospect Heights, an unincorporated area contiguous to Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and Wheeling.

The Northwest Suburban Council of Associations objected to the original bill, but has accepted the amended version.

HOMEOWNER'S associations, still in opposition, claim the new amendments still do not protect unincorporated areas from compulsory annexation.

The Herald talked to an area homeowner, Mrs. William Gardner, asking why she was leading opposition to the bill.

The prime objection, she said, is "there are no provisions for allowing residents in an unincorporated area to vote in a referendum, to decide if they wish to be annexed, and, pending annexation proceedings, stop an annexation from taking place."

THE NEW OPPOSITION has rejected the bill despite the new amendments. It is comprised of associations, primarily from the Prospect Heights area and dissident individuals who felt they could not comply with their association's acceptance of the bill.

The amendments call for notification of residents in an area under consideration for annexation setting a date for annexation proceedings.

Also provided in the original bill, is a Clause stating annexation proceedings will be heard in the circuit court of the county in which the annexing municipality is located.

Also in the amendments, is a provision to exempt particular areas, such as Prospect Heights from the fear voiced by the NSCA, that areas such as Prospect Heights would have to either incorporate or be dismembered by annexations.

OBJECTION TO the other amendment concerns a passage added to the bill, describing possible reasons for preventing annexation.

Mrs. Gardner said the group's objection to the passage is that it does not provide a means, to stop annexation by residents of the area while it is being heard in the courts.

She said there is an attempt now being made to circulate petitions in the area to be sent to each state senator, with a cover letter delineating the objections of the group.

Mrs. Gardner hopes to create state-wide opposition to the bill.

Schlickman, contacted in Springfield, said that he could not understand Mrs. Caylor's opposition to the bill but intended to get in touch with her when he returned home this weekend.

THE AMENDMENT to the bill is currently being printed. When the amendment returns from the printers it, and the bill, will be presented as a package on the House floor.

Schlickman contends bills such as HB 1241 are needed in Illinois to prevent uncontrolled sprawl in nonincorporated areas.

Shaneyfelt Levels at GOP

A former candidate for Elk Grove Township supervisor has charged that incumbent Republicans are playing politics with local schools.

Paul Shaneyfelt of Elk Grove Village, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for supervisor, said he will challenge township officials to explain an apparent reduction of funds for a Dist. 57 vocational training program.

Shaneyfelt called for the explanation after a story appeared in the Herald disclosing that funds will not be allocated from the township to provide for a mutual vocation training class between Dist. 57 junior high schools and facilities at Forest View High School.

"WHY WASN'T THIS proposal for vocational training in the annual township budget?" Shaneyfelt asked. "How can the township just cut off a program like that after campaigning on the strength program?"

Shaneyfelt also charged that the township's inaction on the vocation training funds now place the program in jeopardy because it may be too late to save the program now.

"Educators require some time to plan for their programs," Shaneyfelt said. "Why can't the township officials help those educators by providing the funds for them to use?"

The Elk Grove Village resident also questioned the apparent decision of the township Youth Commission to give all of its allotted $10,000 to the Elk Grove Park District youth center.

AS A MEMBER of the Active Citizens Party and a Democratic slate of candidates, Shaneyfelt ran for the seat now occupied by Supervisor William Rohlfing.

At the close of the campaign for township officers Shaneyfelt and other members of the Active Citizens Party vowed to remain participants in township affairs and to bring attention to what they feel are discrepancies in local government.

Grape Boycott Rally To Be Saturday

A rally will be held in Arlington Heights Saturday as part of nationwide activities for International Grape Boycott Day.

The rally will be held at St. James Elementary School, North State Road, beginning at 1 p.m.

Featured speakers will be Mrs. Eileen Chapman, representative to the Illinois House, and the Rev. Robert Kelsey, a field worker for the National Council of Churches. Local citizens are expected to return to their communities afterward and express their support of the grape boycott to store managers.

grew out of a four-year strike of the Delano, Calif., grape pickers.

THE PICKERS HAVE sought to meet with growers in order to obtain collective bargaining privileges through the United Farm Workers Union. The strike has become a bitter one with accusations on both sides of coercion and violence.

Chamber To Check Autos

Mount Prospect residents can have their cars safety checked free of charge next week, thanks to the Chamber of Commerce and their annual program for highway safety.

As in other years, members of the chamber will conduct a safety check on Emerson Street, between Central and Busse. The free car check will be held May 17 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

AIM OF THE annual check-up is to inform local drivers of possible hazardous conditions in their cars. The chamber offers the safety check without any obligation to the drivers.

Taking part in the program this year are Richard Hughes, chamber president; Fred Meeske, publicity chairman, and Doug Winkelman, chairman of the safety check program.

WHEEL ALIGNMENT and brakes are two of the twelve safety checks to be conducted by members of the Mount Prospect Chamber of Commerce next week. The free safety

3 Teenagers Hurt In Two-Car Crash

Three young persons were injured in a two-car accident on Rand Road near Route 87 in Mount Prospect Tuesday.

Richard Biskupski, 17, of Des Plaines, pulled onto Rand Road from McDonald's drive-in, going south when he was tagged in the rear by a car driven by Barbara Grodin, 18, of Niles.

BISKUPSKI, MISS GRODIN and a passenger in her car, Peggy Simmons, 18, of Morton Grove, were all taken to Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines for treatment of minor injuries and released.

Miss Grodin was ticketed for following too closely and is slated to appear in Mount Prospect traffic court June 11.

2 Teen Boys Attack Man on Way to Train

A 5-year-old cook who works at Wayne's Redwood Inn in Mount Prospect was hit on the head Tuesday night by two teenage boys at the corner of Maple and Gregory streets.

The man, Charles Touar, said he was on his way to the train station when the two youths clubbed him with an iron pipe and then fled. Touar, who is blind in his left eye, was not injured.

Reports Tape Theft

Charles Spindler, 18, of Park Ridge, reported $200 worth of stereo tapes were stolen from the glove compartment of his car Monday at Randhurst Shopping Center.

Spindler said he locked the car, but the thief pried one of the doors open.

Answers Hike Charges

Idealism and reality were balanced carefully by Mrs. Rena Trevor when she spoke to an Arlington High School sociology class yesterday.

Teenagers of Arlington Heights and other parts of the suburban Northwest marched in a Hike for the Hungry during a spring rain storm on April 4.

Funds raised by hikers were to be divided between the Northwest Opportunity Center and Ecuador agricultural project and a Biafran relief project.

The goal of the march, to help feed hungry people, is good, Mrs. Trevor said. "But it isn't that simple with the hidden poor we have here."

QUESTIONS AND OBJECTIONS have been raised about how the funds would be used by the opportunity center in Rolling Meadows. Mrs. Trevor said the funds would go for self developmental programs.

Mrs. Trevor is an active alternate delegate on the advisory committee of Norwesco, the Northwest Cook Opportunity Council. Norwesco is the founder of the Opportunity Center and is one of the three local groups which sponsor the center.

The Spanish-Americans in this area comprise about 90 per cent of the 700 or 800 poor families in the suburban Northwest. Mrs. Trevor said they are proud people who do not like to accept outright help like gifts of food, but would rather try to better themselves through educational programs.

THE YOUTHS WHO marched in the Hunger Hike knew funds would go to the Northwest Opportunity Center but did not know how the funds would be used. At a recent Norwesco meeting, charges were made that the funds should not be used to pay salaries of full-time staff people at the center.

Mrs. Trevor said the funds would be put to good use. She said there is a chance that some of the money will be used to feed hungry people on an emergency basis. However, most of the funds will probably go into educational programs.

Various programs offered by the Northwest Opportunity Center were explained to the teenagers by Mrs. Trevor. Programs include classes in English, basic math, citizenship and consumer goods. Other programs include providing transportation so that people can get to dentists who have volunteered to do free dental work and providing legal aid.

Still No Chairman

Mayor Robert Teichert is holding a pat hand for a while and not taking immediate action to replace Trustee Earl Lewis as chairman of a four-member panel to select a new village manager for Mount Prospect.

Lewis resigned his appointment to the blue ribbon panel by long distance Monday without having attended panel meetings or been privy to discussions about the manager's post.

Temporary chairman of the panel is Trustee Daniel Ahern who will presumably continue as acting chairman until a replacement is named by Teichert.

Lewis' resignation apparently stems from the fact that he did not wish to serve on a panel composed in part of former trustees.

TEICHERT ORIGINALLY appointed Trustee Lewis and Ahern to the panel as well as former trustees Joseph Grittani and Parker Ekren.

Grittani is clearly identified with Teichert's campaign for the mayor's post. Ahern and Lewis were part of the United Economy Party of defeated candidate Daniel Congreve.

Grittani's eligibility for a position on the panel was questioned earlier by Trustee George Reiter who raised doubt about Grittani's appointment based on a technicality of village law.

Teichert was on firm ground in appointing Grittani, however, and he remains on the panel.

GRITTANI SAID yesterday that plans are proceeding to place advertisements for the village manager's post in professional magazines. The former trustee also said the committee is investigating the cost of placing an ad in the Wall Street Journal.

The panel is not formed to adhere to a budget in seeking a new manager, but Grittani said common sense will be used in determining expenditures in the effort to get a manager.

May 1 Minutes Draw Flak

Mayor Robert Teichert and Trustee Robert Soderman clashed on semantic grounds Tuesday, when a motion was made to approve the minutes of the new village board's first meeting, May 1.

Soderman said the minutes read that Teichert "moved" the board to waive notice of the meeting, which had been called to appoint an acting village manager, a deputy clerk and a screening committee to seek a new village manager. He claimed Teichert, as mayor, couldn't place a motion on the floor.

Teichert said the minutes should be corrected to read he "requested" instead of "moved" to waive notice of the meeting. But that wasn't enough for Soderman, who then questioned the legality of the action taken at that meeting.

"I DON'T know what games you intend to play here tonight, but you're out of order, Mr. Soderman," Teichert said.

"It's no game. We're going by Robert's Rules of Order and I want it to be legal," Soderman said.

"I'm not prepared to give a legal opinion to the board. We are trying to ratify the action taken at that meeting. Its legality is another matter," said Teichert.

"I still have too many doubts in my mind," replied Soderman. He continued to complain about the legality of the minutes, but was swept aside each time by Teichert, who rules he was "out of order."

St. Paul Students Compete in Field Day

Eleven students from St. Paul Lutheran School in Mount Prospect competed with 1,000 grade school students from the area at a field day held at Concordia Teachers College in River Forest.

The students participated in such field events as running, jumping, softball throw and obstacle course competition.

Mara Rautenberg also earned first place in the softball throw, and Laurie Hein took fourth place in the 50-yard dash.

Tape Player Stolen

A tape player valued at $185 was stolen from a car in the Maple Street parking lot, Mount Prospect, Wednesday.

The unit belongs to G. Greine, 1714 Estates, Mount Prospect. Greine said the car was locked at the time of the theft.

Purse, $15 Lost

A purse containing $15 was lost at the corner of Central Road and Emerson Street in Mount Prospect Wednesday.

Mrs. Edith Davis, 530 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights, said she placed the purse on top of her car for a moment, then drove off forgetting it was there.

The purse, which was beige, also contained her driver's license and a check book. So far no one has given the purse to police.

The programs are offered in the mornings five days a week. Day care is available for children whose mothers work; it extends throughout the day and includes hot lunches, naps and snacks.

THE DAILY PROGRAMS include arts and crafts, story reading, music and supervised play. The school is licensed by the state.

The public is invited to attend, and tickets can be purchased at the door. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Oboe Taken From Car

A $250 oboe was stolen from a car at Randhurst recently.

The oboe belonged to L. J. Charland, 811 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights.

Charland said he had left the car for 10 minutes. He found the oboe missing when he returned. The car was not locked.

Names Committees

Mayor Robert Teichert appointed village trustees, in six village committees Tuesday.

Appointed to the judiciary committee are Earl Lewis, chairman, and Daniel Ahern and Robert Soderman.

Named to the finance committee are John Kilroy, chairman, and Donald Furst and Soderman.

George Reiter was appointed chairman of the fire and police committee, along with members Furst and Ahern.

On the building committee are Soderman, chairman, and Lewis and Kilroy.

The public works committee will consist of chairman Ahern and Kilroy and Reiter. And lastly, the health and safety committee will be chaired by Furst, with other members Reiter and Lewis.

NAMED TO THE Fairview Gardens Acquisition Committee are Ahern, Soderman, Furst and residents John Martino, John Frekot, John Hendricks and Gil Basnick.

Teichert said items from the plan commission will go to the judiciary committee before being brought before the board and that items from the board of appeals will be sent through the building committee.

Prior to that, all business items from both the plan commission and board of appeals had gone directly to the judiciary committee.

Teichert also said chairmen from each of the various village committees will act as liaison representatives with each of the village commissions.

THE JUDICIARY committee will be linked to the plan commission, the finance committee to the industrial commission, the fire and police committee with the youth commission, the building committee with the board of appeals, and the public works committee with the drainage and clean streams committee.

THERE ARE REALLY four people in this picture. The one in the middle is "Harvey," the invisible rabbit who makes his appearance on stage in the Prospect High production of the famous play. High school students will present performances tonight, Friday and Saturday. The

20 Protest Up-Stream Flooding

More than 20 homeowners living on Jackson Street, northwest of Huntz and Schoenbeck roads in unincorporated north Wheeling Township, held the tiny Wheeling Township hall Tuesday night to protest flooding from Buffalo Grove and Wheeling.

Efforts of area homeowners and Wheeling Township Road Commissioner Lawrence Carrozza to build a dam to keep water from the up-stream Cambridge subdivision from flooding downstream homes were recently slapped down in court.

Tuesday night Wheeling township Atty. Richard Cowen told homeowners the township was powerless to solve their problem. He advised them to retain an attorney to represent them in court and also to present their case to the villages of Wheeling and Buffalo Grove.

"It is an ancient law that downstream cannot block the natural flow of water," said Cowen.

"But is it a natural flow?" asked a homeowner. "The builders have developed the upstream land and changed it."

"A DECISION ON this case could well resolve many legal issues," Cowen said.

The area in question is being flooded by run-off from Cambridge. At present, suits involving Cambridge developer Richard Brown, the villages of Buffalo Grove and Wheeling, Carrozza as building commissioner, and homeowner and dam-builder William Fraizer are before the Equity Court.

It has been estimated by engineers that it will cost a minimum of $70 thousand to correct the drainage problem.

Brown, who annexed his subdivision to Buffalo Grove while intending to connect the Wheeling sewers had his sewer connection blocked by Wheeling because the village contended this would overload their system.

The Cambridge water is now flooding Jackson Drive and the homeowners have no avenue of complaint except the township.

CARROZZA SAYS he has done all in his power, even involving himself in a lawsuit, to help the homeowners.

A recent picture of flooded Jackson Street conditions, which appeared in the Herald, galvanized the homeowners into action.

The items the court must consider in arriving at a decision on the flooding responsibility are: The natural flow of the storm water, who is changing it, and the effect of the Cambridge subdivision on the drainage onto Jackson Street.

Homeowners attending the session contended Buffalo Grove had the greatest responsibility for the flooding because Brown's Cambridge has been annexed to Buffalo Grove.

"It's not running uphill. It comes from Buffalo Grove," one homeowner said.

They contend this situation did not exist until the Cambridge subdivision was built.

A MEETING OF homeowners on Jackson Street has been called by Charles Hinze, 2010 N. Jackson, for this Monday night.

Hinze hopes to unite homeowners in a cooperative assault against the villages, and Brown.

Con-Con Definite

Hopefuls for delegate to the Illinois Constitutional Convention can start picking up those 1,000 signatures on petitions of candidacy.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie Wednesday signed the bill calling for a Constitutional Convention, the first in almost 50 years. Con-Con is to convene at noon Dec. 8 in House chambers in Springfield.

The opening date will be the 100th anniversary of the convention which drafted the state's present 1870 constitution.

Ogilvie's approval formally sets in motion the election processes that will send to Con-Con two delegates from each state Senate district.

NOMINATING petitions carrying 1,000 signatures must be filed with the secretary of state between July 7 and July 11.

A primary election will be held Sept. 23 to reduce candidates to four. A run-off of the top four vote getters per district will be Nov. 18. The new law provides for a nonpartisan election, meaning no party designation will appear on ballots.

If no more than four candidates file for the primary in any district, they will wait for the general election. However, it is not likely the Third and 37th Senate districts will produce this minimal number.

Delegates will be paid $625 per month for up to six months, and $100 a day for up to 75 days for each day they are in attendance at the convention or its committees. Expenses will be paid.

THE LAW SIGNED by the governor allows elected public officials to serve as delegates. They cannot draw pay, but will be allowed expenses.

This clause, once considered controversial, is expected to be given a court test since the constitution forbids delegates from holding any other "lucrative"

public office.

It is estimated that the state will spend $2.5 million for each of the two elections and about $3 million for the convention itself.

Unusual offer.

Fortas Impeachment?

WASHINGTON—Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., R-Ohio, predicted Wednesday that an impeachment bill will be filed against Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas unless there is further explanation of a fee he accepted from financier Louis Wolfson, who has since gone to jail for stock market law violations.

Fortas said he took a fee, but later returned it when he discovered he would not be able to advise and write for Wolfson's family foundation. Taft said that unless Fortas explains further, "impeachment is a good possibility."

Gas Plan Probe Asked

WASHINGTON—An investigation into a Pentagon plan to dispose of World War II stocks of poison gas in the Atlantic Ocean was asked yesterday by Rep. Richard McCarthy, D-N.Y.

McCarthy questioned whether rail shipments of the gas to the East Coast posed a public danger and whether dumping the gas in the ocean endangered marine life. The Transportation Department confirmed that the gas is to be shipped May 16.

$520 Aid Level Asked

SPRINGFIELD—Governor Ogilvie yesterday asked the legislature to raise the basic school foundation level to $520 per pupil — $20 more than he requested in his budget.

The additional $20 will not increase Ogilvie's recommended $950 million in state aid, but would come from greater-than-expected property tax collections.

Employees Union OK'd

SPRINGFIELD—A bill to allow public employees to organize, but not to strike, was passed and sent to the House yesterday by the state Senate. The collective bargaining bill creates a state public employees' labor relations board to mediate disputes between unions and employers.

The employer is required to seek an injunction in the event of a strike.

'Little FBI' Passed

SPRINGFIELD—The Senate Wednesday passed and sent to the House the Ogilvie administration proposal for a new law enforcement department, including a "little FBI."

All Democrats abstained in the 37-0 vote, registering opposition to a provision allowing the attorney general to begin prosecutions in counties if he wishes.

Train Bill Backed

SPRINGFIELD—Passage of a bill to enable Chicago to tear down its elevated train system and expand the subway system was recommended yesterday by the House Municipalities Committee. The bill would enable cities, including Chicago, to create special taxing districts to finance mass transportation improvements.

Chicago hopes to tax downtown businesses to raise about one-third of the money needed to replace the famous Loop elevated train tracks with two subway additions.

Transfer Principal

CHICAGO—Norman Silber, the white principal of largely Negro Englewood High School was transferred to another school yesterday at his own request after an estimated 1,000 students demonstrated, demanding his dismissal. Silber's transfer ended school disturbances which started when he fired George Spencer, a Negro teacher, and then had him arrested when Spencer refused to leave the building.

Ammo Truck Explodes

MACON, Ga. — A truck loaded with 40,000 pounds of ammunition exploded after a collision on Interstate 475 near Macon yesterday, injuring six persons, none seriously, and scattering live 20 mm shells over a wide area.

Police and firemen were pinned down behind cars and in ditches as the truck burned and shells exploded. Two of those injured were struck by shrapnel. The others were injured in the accident, which involved a small foreign car and another truck loaded with tomatoes.

WARM WATER and warm weather give students from Dempster Junior High School in Mount Prospect an opportunity to enjoy a pre-season dip during the school day. The swimming pool at Kopp Park has been equipped with electric heaters, so students can enjoy the water and the weather as part of their physical education program.

Will Village Acquire Central?

Reaction to Mayor Teichert's announcement that the village should be interested in acquiring Dist. 57's Central School was surprise mixed with confusion.

Members of the Dist. 57 school board contacted by the Herald said they had no foreknowledge of Teichert's announcement.

Mrs. Pat Kimball said of the property, "I think it would be of more benefit on the tax roles of the community and it would be a help to the central business district."

to bring more shoppers into the area if it were privately developed.

"I think apartments would be ideal, although this is not in the present zoning. It certainly would be handy for older residents to be near all the conveniences (of the village)."

HARRY HANSEN, president of the Dist. 57 board said, "Our primary concern is that (the property) serves a good use for the village and that we get the money we need from the sale."

Fence Law Hinges

The Mount Prospect fence ordinance is on the fence.

The ordinance, which was reviewed last month by the building committee, was sent back to committee for more review because some board members thought it still would create too much hardship and confusion to property owners.

As it stands today, the ordinance requires home owners to enclose swimming pools in their backyards with a 54-inch fence. Fences around the perimeter of the lot, however, must conform to a 42-inch standard.

Home owners who have a 42-inch fence around their yards and buy a swimming pool have to increase the fence height to 54 inches. And a fence variation has to be sought to do it.

GEORGE REITER thought this is too much of a hardship.

The building committee had recommended no change on the ordinance.

Other board members thought the 42-inch rule for yard fences was too low.

Trustee Donald Furst said many of these fences are nothing more than glorified dog pens and that a fence 42 inches high wasn't enough to contain some larger dogs.

"I have a German shephard, but I don't have a fence. I walk the dog because I enjoy him. But some people want the fence to do the job they are too lazy to do, and for them the fence should be higher," he said.

MAYOR ROBERT TEICHERT said two levels of fence in a yard would create a "dog track."

"A 42-inch fence on the outside and a 54-inch fence on the inside would be undesirable," he explained.

Opposition to House Bill 1241 granting annexation rights to municipalities over 50,000 in population, has taken a new turn.

Area residents of unincorporated Prospect Heights are planning to fight the passage of the bill — despite amendments added to the original bill to clarify the future status of unincorporated Prospect Heights.

The bill, introduced into the Illinois House by Rep. Schlickman, R. Dist. 3, seeks to allow municipalities to annex by ordinance contiguous unincorporated areas.

The original furor centered around the status of Prospect Heights, an unincorporated area contiguous to Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and Wheeling.

The Northwest Suburban Council of Associations objected to the original bill, but has accepted the amended version.

HOMEOWNER'S associations, still in opposition, claim the new amendments still do not protect unincorporated areas from compulsory annexation.

The Herald talked to an area homeowner, Mrs. William Gardner, asking why she was leading opposition to the bill.

The prime objection, she said, is "there are no provisions for allowing residents in an unincorporated area to vote in a referendum, to decide if they wish to be annexed, and, pending annexation proceedings, stop an annexation from taking place."

THE NEW OPPOSITION has rejected the bill despite the new amendments. It is comprised of associations, primarily from the Prospect Heights area and dissident individuals who felt they could not comply with their association's acceptance of the bill.

The amendments call for notification of residents in an area under consideration for annexation setting a date for annexation proceedings.

Also provided in the original bill, is a clause stating annexation proceedings will be heard in the circuit court of the county in which the annexing municipality is located.

Also in the amendments, is a provision to exempt particular areas, such as Prospect Heights from the fear voiced by the NSCA, that areas such as Prospect Heights would have to either incorporate or be dismembered by annexations.

OBJECTION TO the other amendment concerns a passage added to the bill, describing possible reasons for preventing annexation.

Mrs. Gardner said the group's objection to the passage is that it does not provide a means, to stop annexation by residents of the area while it is being heard in the courts.

She said there is an attempt now being made to circulate petitions in the area to be sent to each state senator, with a cover letter delineating the objections of the group.

Mrs. Gardner hopes to create state-wide opposition to the bill.

Schlickman, contacted in Springfield, said that he could not understand Mrs. Caylor's opposition to the bill but intended to get in touch with her when he returned home this weekend.

THE AMENDMENT to the bill is currently being printed. When the amendment returns from the printers it, and the bill, will be presented as a package on the House floor.

Schlickman contends bills such as HB 1241 are needed in Illinois to prevent uncontrolled sprawl in nonincorporated areas.

Shaneyfelt Levels at GOP

A former candidate for Elk Grove Township supervisor has charged that incumbent Republicans are playing politics with local schools.

Paul Shaneyfelt of Elk Grove Village, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for supervisor, said he will challenge township officials to explain an apparent reduction of funds for a Dist. 57 vocational training program.

Shaneyfelt called for the explanation after a story appeared in the Herald disclosing that funds will not be allocated from the township to provide for a mutual vocation training class between Dist. 57 junior high schools and facilities at Forest View High School.

"WHY WASN'T THIS proposal for vocational training in the annual township budget?" Shaneyfelt asked. "How can the township just cut off a program like that after campaigning on the strength program?"

Shaneyfelt also charged that the township's inaction on the vocation training funds now place the program in jeopardy because it may be too late to save the program now.

"Educators require some time to plan for their programs," Shaneyfelt said. "Why can't the township officials help those educators by providing the funds for them to use?"

The Elk Grove Village resident also questioned the apparent decision of the township Youth Commission to give all of its allotted $10,000 to the Elk Grove Park District youth center.

"Why is all the money going to just one of the township's park districts?" Shaneyfelt said.

AS A MEMBER of the Active Citizens Party and a Democratic slate of candidates, Shaneyfelt ran for the seat now occupied by Supervisor William Rohlfing.

At the close of the campaign for township officers Shaneyfelt and other members of the Active Citizens Party vowed to remain participants in township affairs and to bring attention to what they feel are discrepancies in local government.

Grape Boycott Rally To Be Saturday

A rally will be held in Arlington Heights Saturday as part of nationwide activities for International Grape Boycott Day.

The rally will be held at St. James Elementary School, North State Road, beginning at 1 p.m.

Featured speakers will be Mrs. Eugenia Chapman, representative to the Illinois House, and the Rev. Robert Kolsey, a field worker for the National Council of Churches. Local citizens are expected to return to their communities afterward and express their support of the grape boycott to store managers.

The boycott, now in its second year,

grew out of a four-year strike of the Delano, Calif., grape pickers.

THE PICKERS HAVE sought to meet with growers in order to obtain collective bargaining privileges through the United Farm Workers Union. The strike has become a bitter one with accusations on both sides of coercion and violence.

A nationwide grape boycott was implemented by Cesar Chavez, head of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, in 1967. Major chain stores, including A & P, Jewel, National Tea and Hi-Low pledged last year not to carry grapes, but community support is needed if they are to continue their policy, according to the rally organizers.

"The Proclamation of the Delano Grape Workers," to be read at the Saturday rally, states the position of the Farm Workers:

"WE HAVE BEEN farm workers for hundreds of years, boycotters for two. We did not choose the grape boycott, but we have chosen to leave our peonage, poverty and despair behind. We mean to have our peace, and to win it without violence, for it is violence that we would overcome — the subtle spiritual and mental violence or oppression, the violence subhuman toll does to the human body."

The local rally and confrontation is one of 20 such activities to be held in Chicago and suburban neighborhoods Saturday. It will be part of a coordinated effort to demonstrate consumer support of the United Farm Workers and their boycott.

Fortas Impeachment?

WASHINGTON—Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., R-Ohio, predicted Wednesday that an impeachment bill will be filed against Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas unless there is further explanation of a fee he accepted from financier Louis Wolfson, who has since gone to jail for stock market law violations.

Fortas said he took a fee, but later returned it when he discovered he would not be able to advise and write for Wolfson's family foundation. Taft said that unless Fortas explains further, "impeachment is a good possibility."

Gas Plan Probe Asked

WASHINGTON—An investigation into a Pentagon plan to dispose of World War II stocks of poison gas in the Atlantic Ocean was asked yesterday by Rep. Richard McCarthy, D-N.Y.

McCarthy questioned whether rail shipments of the gas to the East Coast posed a public danger and whether dumping the gas in the ocean endangered marine life. The Transportation Department confirmed that the gas is to be shipped May 15.

$520 Aid Level Asked

SPRINGFIELD—Governor Ogilvie yesterday asked the legislature to raise the basic school foundation level to $520 per pupil — $20 more than he requested in his budget.

The additional $20 will not increase Ogilvie's recommended $550 million in state aid, but would come from greater than expected property tax collections.

Employees Union OK'd

SPRINGFIELD A bill to allow public employees to organize, but not to strike, was passed and sent to the House yesterday by the state Senate. The collective bargaining bill creates a state public employees' labor relations board to mediate disputes between unions and employers.

The employer is required to seek an injunction in the event of a strike.

'Little FBI' Passed

SPRINGFIELD The Senate Wednesday passed and sent to the House the Ogilvie administration proposal for a new law enforcement department, including a "little FBI."

All Democrats obtained in the 37-0 vote, registering opposition to a provision allowing the attorney general to begin prosecutions in counties if he wishes.

Train Bill Backed

SPRINGFIELD—Passage of a bill to enable Chicago to tear down its elevated train system and expand the subway system was recommended yesterday by the House Municipalities Committee. The bill would enable cities, including Chicago, to create special taxing districts to finance mass transportation improvements.

Chicago hopes to tax downtown businesses to raise about one-third of the money needed to replace the famous Loop elevated train tracks with two subway additions.

Transfer Principal

CHICAGO—Norman Silber, the white principal of largely Negro Englewood High School was transferred to another school yesterday at his own request after an estimated 1,000 students demonstrated, demanding his dismissal. Silber's transfer ended school disturbances, which started when he fired George Spencer, a Negro teacher, and then had him arrested when Spencer refused to leave the building.

Ammo Truck Explodes

MAGNUS, Ga. A truck loaded with 40,000 pounds of ammunition exploded after a collision on Interstate 475 near Macon yesterday, injuring six persons, none seriously, and scattering live 20 mm shells over a wide area.

Police and firemen were pinned down behind cars and in ditches as the truck burned and shells exploded. Two of those injured were struck by shrapnel. The others were injured in the accident, which involved a small foreign car and another truck loaded with tomatoes.

Housing Change Proposed

by SANDRA COMSTOCK

A proposed change in Arlington Heights' open housing ordinance probably will not cause the controversy that occurred when the original ordinance was passed in January, 1968.

An amendment to the ordinance was presented to the village board at its meeting Monday night. Village Atty. Jack Siegel drafted the change after a request from Village Pres. John Walsh to bring the ordinance in line with federal standards.

"This is simply a sound, sensible administrative procedure," Walsh told the Herald. "It would allow the village to 'qualify' to continue to make the initial judgement on complaints."

Board members referred the revision to the legal committee for study. It will probably come up for approval at the board's meeting in two weeks.

THE REVISION is designed so Arlington Heights can retain the responsibility for the initial investigation on complaints of discrimination.

According to the 1968 federal civil rights bill, passed immediately after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, local review boards can retain the right for investigation of complaints only if the local open housing ordinances are as strict or stricter than the federal law.

The village's present ordinance is in line with federal laws. However, one phase of the Civil Rights Act of 1968 will come into effect next January that would outmode Arlington Heights' ordinance.

The federal bill generally forbids discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion or national origin in the rental or sale of homes or apartments. Its restrictions cover real estate brokers, federally financed housing and subdividers.

IN JANUARY, the act will cover individual homeowners who will be banned from discriminating on racial or ethnic grounds. However, the bill will not cover the man who sells his home without a broker or without discriminatory advertisements.

The act provides that if local governments do not provide an ordinance strict enough for fair housing, the complaint will be investigated by representatives of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). If Arlington Heights does strengthen the present ordinance to bring it in line with federal requirements, the village could retain its power to investigate complaints.

Walsh said the keeping of local power is not meant to harm anyone who might complain. If a person's complaint is heard by the local real estate review board and the verdict does not satisfy him, he may take the case to court.

In March, the League of Women Voters passed a resolution to support the strengthening of Arlington Heights ordinance. The resolution asked for an ordinance which would prevent discrimination in the sale of housing by homeowners, rental agents, mortgage firms and insurance companies, as well as by real estate brokers covered by the present ordinance.

We're Out-Booked

by JOAN KLUSMANN

Empty shelves in the Arlington Heights Memorial Library highlight the fact that the building has more patrons but fewer books per person than neighboring libraries.

A survey of eight libraries in this area shows Arlington Heights topping the list in annual circulation of books and in the number of persons holding library cards. However, the village library is at the bottom of the pile when a comparison is made of the number of books available for each local resident.

Library shelves currently hold 68,000 volumes or about 1.1 books per person. The 41,500 registered cardholders borrow 400,000 books annually.

LACK OF SPACE in the old village library precluded ordering many volumes and the library is now well behind the minimum of two books per capita recommended by the American Library Association for a community the size of Arlington Heights.

Trustees hope to attain the two-book criterion in the next four to five years if a May 17 referendum is passed.

Board Pres. Mrs. Robert Wallace said residents have requested additional library materials in all categories.

"Our present goal of two books per capita will help fulfill the needs of many patrons. This is the first step to providing the ultimate collection our library should have to serve the community properly."

Executive librarian Harold Ard, who hopes that the library will one day also serve as a research facility, places achievement of the two-book standard at the top of his priority list for the future.

A look at facts and figures from other areas shows that the burgeoning village population has helped to keep the library behind surrounding facilities in available materials per resident.

THE LIBRARY in Barrington, with 7,700 borrowers last year and a ratio of 3.5 books per person, is planning a referendum June 10 in an attempt to make the library a district facility.

Arlington Heights' and Schaumburg's efforts to gain cultural centers gained a giant boost from a committee of the Illinois House.

The House Municipalities Committee unanimously approved Rep. Eugene Schlickman's, R-3rd, bill to permit municipalities to establish and finance cultural centers.

The bill will go to the full House next week for a vote.

Schlickman, obviously relieved after the unanimous approval, told the Herald that he was especially excited over the wide range of possibilities for usage that his bill would allow.

Section one of the bill permits a city or town to establish a cultural center containing space for art exhibits, theater groups, museums, and any other activity "enhancing the cultural and intellectual level of the community."

THE BILL ALSO sets up procedures for communities to purchase land and finance construction of such centers.

According to House Bill 2703, a community may acquire property by purchase, lease, as a gift, or through condemnation of property.

The purchase of land and operation of the center can be covered by revenue bonds, and they can be paid back solely by revenue derived from the center.

The bill also includes a provision to allow portions of the center to be rented out to firms connected with a cultural event.

It allows a community to approve a majority vote any tax assessed to cover the cost of a cultural center. Finally, voter approval is necessary if general obligation bonds are issued to finance the center.

Jack Siegel, who serves as attorney for Arlington Heights and Schaumburg, was the only person to testify in favor of the bill before the committee. No one spoke in opposition.

The bill, if approved by the legislature, will give Arlington Heights the opportunity to plunge ahead with long-delayed plans for a center.

Village Pres. John Walsh explained that, at the present time, no machinery exists for a village to finance or operate a cultural center.

He stressed that it creates the avenues to seek voter approval of funds — if no other means can be found to finance such a center.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS' struggle to make a cultural center more than a dream began in 1966, when trustees began considering a site.

In January, 1966, the village purchased one square block of land bounded by Dunton, Vail, Fremont, and St. James, the block directly south of the Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

OKs 3 Lakes Plat Change

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission last night approved a series of minor changes in the preliminary plat for Gust Stavros' Three Lakes development — but found one serious problem: land use.

Officials from the Arlington Heights Park District and School Dist. 21 attended the meeting, and asked for a portion of an edge of the property, on the far northern edge of the village, for a park and school site.

However, on July 1, 1968, the Arlington Heights Village Board approved an ordinance which accepted about $50,000 in lieu of a dedication for land for a park or school site.

NORMALLY, LAND developers huddle with members of the village administration and park and school officials to work out an acceptable donation — land or money. However, somewhere along the line, the park and school officials claim they were short changed.

In approving the plat, the commission is notifying the board that "we don't feel that the needs of the park district and Dist. 21 are sufficiently met by the acceptance of money in lieu of land."

In other words, Atty. William Moore, village officials, and park and school officials may get together informally to try to work out a solution to a problem which may have been accidentally ignored in past action on the property.

Stavros is hoping to construct an apartment and single-family home project, mingled with a golf course, on the site. Rezoning has been granted for that purpose.

Viator's Claims Share of Crown

St. Viator's varsity baseball Lions claimed at least a share of the Chicago-Land Prep League diamond crown last night, edging by St. Joseph 2-1, while St. George was whipping league-leading Marist, 3-0.

The Lion win brought St. Viator's final CPL record to 11-3. Marist, who had been leading the league up till last night, now stands at 8-3, and St. George owns a 9-3 record. The best either team can now do is finish in a tie with Coach Pat Mahoney's Lions.

IN OTHER PADDOCK area prep baseball action, Wheeling whipped Fremont, 12-4; Forest View blasted Palatine, 4-4; Elk Grove topped Prospect, 4-1; Arlington bombed Glenbard North, 7-1; and Hersey edged Conant, 1-0.

Police Seek Dog

Arlington Heights police and the family of a 4-year-old girl have issued a plea to residents of the city to help them in their search for a dog that bit the girl Wednesday morning.

Officer Eugene Korn said a small black and brown dog, which looks like a miniature German Shepherd, must be found if the girl, Wendy Coulter, 1613 N. Highland, is to avoid taking painful rabies shots.

HE SAID POLICE and residents in the area searched throughout the neighborhood most of the day but failed to find it. He said the dog is evidently in someone's house and is probably not a stray since it was described to be clean and having a collar with tags.

Officer Korn said Wendy was bitten while protecting her own dog from the strange dog.

Plan Annexation Bill Fight

Opposition to House Bill 1241 granting annexation rights to municipalities over 30,000 in population, has taken a new turn. Area residents of unincorporated Prospect Heights are planning to fight the passage of the bill — despite amendments added to the original bill to clarify the future status of unincorporated Prospect Heights.

The bill, introduced into the Illinois House by Rep. Schlickman, R. Dist. 3, seeks to allow municipalities to annex by ordinance contiguous unincorporated areas.

The original furor centered around the status of Prospect Heights, an unincorporated area contiguous to Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and Wheeling.

The Northwest Suburban Council of Association, objected to the original bill, but has accepted the amended version.

HOMEOWNER'S associations, still in opposition, claim the new amendments still do not protect unincorporated areas from compulsory annexation.

The Herald talked to an area homeowner, Mrs. William Gardner, asking why she was leading opposition to the bill.

The prime objection, she said, is "there are no provisions for allowing residents in an unincorporated area to vote in a referendum, to decide if they wish to be annexed, and, pending annexation proceedings, stop an annexation from taking place."

THE NEW OPPOSITION has rejected the bill despite the new amendments. It is comprised of associations, primarily from the Prospect Heights area and dissident individuals who felt they could not comply with their association's acceptance of the bill.

The amendments call for notification of residents in an area under consideration for annexation setting a date for annexation proceedings.

"Also provided in the original bill, is a Clause stating annexation proceedings will be heard in the circuit court of the county in which the annexing municipality is located.

Also in the amendments, is a provision to exempt particular areas, such as Prospect Heights from the fear voiced by the NSCA, that areas such as Prospect Heights would have to either incorporate or be dismembered by annexations.

OBJECTION to the other amendment concerns a passage added to the bill, describing possible reasons for preventing annexation.

Mrs. Gardner said the group's objection to the passage is that it does not provide a means, to stop annexation by residents of the area while it is being heard in the courts.

She said there is an attempt now being made to circulate petitions in the area to be sent to each state senator, with a cover letter delineating the objections of the group.

Mrs. Gardner hopes to create state-wide opposition to the bill.

Schlickman, contacted in Springfield, said that he could not understand Mrs. Caylor's opposition to the bill but intended to get in touch with her when he returned home this weekend.

THE AMENDMENT to the bill is currently being printed. When the amendment returns from the printers it, and the bill, will be presented as a package on the House floor.

Schlickman contends bills such as HB 1241 are needed in Illinois to prevent uncontrolled sprawl in nonincorporated areas.

Shaneyfelt Levels at GOP

A former candidate for Elk Grove Township supervisor has charged that incumbent Republicans are playing politics with local schools.

Paul Shaneyfelt of Elk Grove Village, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for supervisor, said he will challenge township officials to explain an apparent reduction of funds for a Dist. 57 vocational training program.

Shaneyfelt called for the explanation after a story appeared in the Herald disclosing that funds will not be allocated from the township to provide for a mutual vocation training class between Dist. 57 junior high schools and facilities at Forest View High School.

"WHY WASN'T THIS proposal for vocational training in the annual township budget?" Shaneyfelt asked. "How can the township just cut off a program like that after campaigning on the strength program?"

Shaneyfelt also charged that the township's inaction on the vocation training funds now place the program in jeopardy because it may be too late to save the program now.

"Educators require some time to plan for their programs," Shaneyfelt said.

"Why can't the township officials help those educators by providing the funds for them to use?"

The Elk Grove Village resident also questioned the apparent decision of the township Youth Commission to give all of its allotted $10,000 to the Elk Grove Park District youth center.

"Why is all the money going to just one of the township's park districts?" Shaneyfelt said.

AS A MEMBER of the Active Citizens Party and a Democratic slate of candidates, Shaneyfelt ran for the seat now occupied by Supervisor William Rohlfing.

At the close of the campaign for township officers Shaneyfelt and other members of the Active Citizens Party vowed to remain participants in township affairs and to bring attention to what they feel are discrepancies in local government.

Licenses can be obtained at the village hall or through Bowen Hardware, 121 E. Davis. Fishing licenses cost $2.25 and hunting licenses cost $3.25.

Active duty members of the armed forces and persons who have lived in Illinois for six consecutive months at the time of application are eligible for the state licenses.

Sex Class Draws Flak

by SUE CARSON

Parents and educators in School Dist. 21 erupted Tuesday night at a meeting called to discuss the district's sex education program.

Discussion was so heated that the meeting threatened to become a riot at several points.

The meeting at the Joyce Kilmer School in Buffalo Grove was conducted by the Concerned Parents Committee (CPC), a group of parents organized last month to investigate the method of teaching sex and family living in the district schools.

Robert Hopkins, president of the CPC, told a noisy, standing-room-only crowd that the CPC had intended the meeting to be "informative only."

"OUR ORGANIZATION has no political motivation and we have no personal vendetta against the school system. We are not seeking to create controversy. We only want to give the people the chance to discuss this program," Hopkins said.

The group borrowed five films and slides used in district sex education courses to be shown following the formal presentation.

"ALTHOUGH PARTS OF this film are good, it definitely has moral implications. The district seems to be going in for pseudo-religion," Hopkins said.

Hopkins admitted he hadn't screened several of the five films shown at the meeting but said he was objecting to them on the basis of reference material he had examined and "the objections of other people."

Mrs. Gloria Pfister, director of publicity for the CPC, said an examination of the minutes of Dist. 21 Board of Education meetings revealed that no written approval was given by the board for implementing the sex education program.

She also said the book, "A Baby Is Born," is recommended reading for children in grades two, three and four in the district and is on the library shelf at Louisa Alcott School. "This same book is on the restricted shelf at the Arlington Heights Library," she claimed.

A check by The Herald revealed that the book is on the closed shelf in the children's section of the Arlington Heights Library and may be taken out by adults.

THROUGHOUT THE two-hour meeting, individuals in the audience shouted comments and some took the floor to give their own opinions.

Jack Kimsey, youth officer with the Wheeling Police Department, won applause when he said, "You (parents) are underestimating your own children."

Speaking in favor of the district's program, Kimsey said terrified students come to him frequently to discuss their sexual problems.

"It is a sad commentary that the children of today are so ill-informed," Kimsey said.

Hopkins replied, "Then there must be something wrong with the way the schools are teaching about sex."

The next round in the sex education controversy was scheduled for last night, when the school administration was to give its side of the story at a meeting at Jack London Junior High School.

Ranks Low in Books—

able for the 7,900 residents holding library cards.

Head librarian Virginia Connell said the building should house at least 2.5 books per person, the figure used by the national association for a facility with less than 40,000 volumes.

In May, 1968, Prospect Heights residents had a choice of 2.3 books per person. The library now has 16,000 books and 5,500 cardholders take out 40,000 volumes annually.

Current figures for Elk Grove Village show a yearly circulation of 141,000 volumes. Registration is 11,000 and the library owns approximately 26,700 books. The book-per-person ratio is 1.5.

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS referendum will seek to increase the maximum tax rate from 12 cents per $100 valuation to 20 cents.

A second part of the referendum will ask authority to sell bonds for $500,000 which will be used solely for the purchase of books. The bonds will be included with other general obligations bonds of the village for accounting purposes.

If both parts of the referendum pass and the bonds for books can be sold, trustees plan to tax the 8 cent hike for operating expenses gradually over a ten-year period.

Ministers Back Sex Course

In connection with the sex education controversy in School Dist. 21, seven pastors in the area have composed an open letter to the people of the community. The letter will be presented to the board of education.

The letter has been signed by Rev. Anderson, Philip Bender, Philip Burke Jr., George Ekstrom, Noel Clark Holt, Herman C. Noll and Raymond Yadron.

THE SEVEN PASTORS who signed the letter are members of the Wheeling Ministerial Association, but they took the action as individuals and not as members of this organization, according to Rev. Anderson.

Rev. Anderson said other pastors in the area may also sign the letter.

Begin Building

Construction has begun on the new headquarters of the Amersham/Searle Corp. in Arlington Heights' Clearbrook Industrial Park.

Formed last June, Amersham/Searle is owned jointly by the G.D. Searle and Co. of Skokie and the Radiochemical Center at Amersham, England, a division of the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority (comparable to the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission).

Amersham/Searle's present headquarters are in shared space with Nuclear-Chicago, a G.D. Searle subsidiary, in Des Plaines. Nuclear-Chicago manufactures electronic instrumentation which utilizes the nuclear products of Amersham/Searle.

The corporation produces radiochemicals, radiopharmaceuticals and related nuclear products. Amersham/Searle serves markets involved in the humanitarian and peaceful applications of radioisotopes — industrial, medical diagnosis and therapy; physical science and life science research. The products are not related to military application or nuclear production of electric power, according to company spokesmen.

The Arlington Heights plant will consist of two buildings joined by a corridor.

The larger two-story building will house all general offices, library, computer facilities, cafeteria, research department, laboratories, warehousing and shipping departments. The joining glass-lined corridor will be the reception and guest area.

A smaller two-story building will contain the executive offices and conference areas equipped with audio-visual equipment. The building was designed and will be constructed by Teutsch Associates, architects, engineers and general contractors.

One hundred people will be employed there.

Page Wins Last Park Indoor Tournament

Mike Page, eighth grade student at Miner Junior High School, won the last indoor tournament of the season sponsored by Arlington Heights Park District.

Competition included 14 boys between the ages of 11 and 15 who entered the bumper pool tournament held at Recreation Park, 500 E. Miner. Page defeated four opponents in the best two out of three games for the championship.

BRYAN KILFOY and Nick Brown placed second and third.

Prizes will be awarded at a junior high roller skating party to be held at Recreation Park May 24.

Jim Waldron, after school leader at the park, officiated during the tournament play.

Rev. Behrens Returns For Services Sunday

The Rev. Edgar H. Behrens, pastor emeritus of Faith Lutheran Church, 431 S. Arlington Heights Road, will preach at the church Sunday.

He will talk at the 8 and 10:45 a.m. services. After serving as pastor of the Arlington Heights Church for 21 years, he retired as pastor in January. He and Mrs. Behrens now reside in San Jose, Calif.

Rev. Behrens will join Pastors Vernon Schreiber and David Stuckmeyer of Faith Lutheran next week at a pastoral conference of the English District of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod. The two-day session will take place at the O'Hare Inn.
